LATE NEWS

Chinese Reds Tighten Hold On Shantung

NANKING, June 7—(AP)—Chinese Communist armies pounded Sunday at the Government's faltering hold on Shantung Province, threatening to break out in force into Central China.

The Shantung capital, Tsinan, reported Communist spearheads only a few miles away on the south. It was understood plans were ready to fly out all foreigners on short notice.

About 85 miles to the south, between 50,000 and 75,000 Red troops were attacking the railway city of Tzeyang, which stands like an island in a sea of Communist conquest.

Inside Tzeyang is a large group of foreign missionaries, including five Americans. The Catholics have a mission in Tzeyang.

A strict curfew was ordered even for Suchow, big Government base another 85 miles south of Tzeyang.

British Lad Suryives Fall From 180-Ft. Cliff

WHITBY, England, June 6—(UP)—Twelve-year-old William Bousfield bent down Sunday to examine a sea gull's nest on the edge of a 180-foot cliff. A gust of wind blew him over.

Fishermen reached the scene by the sea after a long battle with waves and wind. They carried a white sail to cover the corpse.

William asked them, "What happened?" He was suffering only from shock and bruises. No bones were broken.

5 Communists Executed in Crete

ATHENS, Greece, June 6—(UP)—Two women and three men have been executed by firing squads at Erakleion, Crete, for membership in Communist forces, press dispatches reported Sunday.

An Erakleion court also sentenced three soldiers to death for desertion, the reports said.

In Larissa, in Southern Greece, a court martial ordered five women and seven men executed for alleged participation in the Communist underground movement.

$400'000 Fire Spares Huge Oil Tanks; 22 Hurt

NEW YORK, June 6—(AP)—A raging Queens lumberyard fire swept to within 200 feet of 1,500,000 gallons of oil in storage tanks Sunday before it was brought under control.

Twenty-two firemen were treated for injuries in battling the blaze which fire department officials said caused about $400,000 damage. Two lumber yards and several adjoining properties were destroyed.

Four firemen were overcome in fighting the blaze. Eighteen others were treated for injuries. The fire, discovered shortly after 1 p. m. (Eastern Standard Time), was out of control for nearly three hours.

Red Tide Equals German Aggression—Sullivan

PITTSBURGH, June 6—(UP)—Sec. of Navy John L. Sullivan Sunday accused Russia of "ruthless aggression" equal to that carried out by Nazi Germany. He asserted the United States will not meet the threat with "appeasement."

He made the statement in a commencement address prepared for delivery to the graduating class at Duquesne University.

Without mentioning Russia by name, he said 250,000,000 people who love democracy "exist today under the guns of a colossus that says that Communism and Democracy cannot live in the same world."

STRANGE BASEBALL STORY OVER WCON

Spectator Disarms Gunman

A crowd of jostling Atlantans faced sudden death at busy Five Points Sunday night from blazing gunfire that resulted in the seventh Negro slaying in eight days.

Bullets whined and bounced off downtown buildings and the horrified throngs rushed for protection before a pistol-wielding Negro was captured at gun point by a special agent for the Atlanta Joint Terminal.

The Negro, his .25-caliber automatic still smoking, was held until police arrived. A second Negro was killed.

Police said the accused slayer's automatic spat wild shots in quick succession, one of them finding its mark.

Witnesses told police they overheard John Brooks, 34, of 805 McDaniel St., S. W., and Willie Hayes, 36, of 364 Old Wheat St., N. E., arguing over Brooks' wife as they passed the front of Jacobs Pharmacy on Marietta Street at Five Points.

Brooks was reported to have reached toward his pocket and screamed, "I'm going to kill you," police said.

Then the gunplay began.

Hayes drew his pistol and started firing, police said. After the wild shots had whizzed through the Sunday night throngs, one slug hit Brooks in the chest. The wounded Negro fell to his knees, raised back up, then collapsed.

As other downtown crowds were attracted to the scene by the pistol shots, Ernest Southard, Special Agent for the Atlanta Joint Terminal, pointed his pistol toward Hayes. Threatened by Southard, the Negro dropped his pistol. Southard held him until Patrolmen A. L. Posey and G. S. Robertson arrived.

Brooks was pronounced dead upon arrival at Grady Hospital. Hayes was lodged in City Jail on charges of suspicion of murder.

Charles Nash, Of Auto Fame, Long Ill, Dies

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., June 6—(AP)—Charles W. Nash, 84, who rose from farm boy to millionaire automobile manufacturer, died Sunday after a long illness.

Nash was stricken with a heart ailment two years ago but had remained active until six months ago.

Nash quit farming in 1890 and went to Flint, Mich., where he worked in a concern that later became the Durant-Dort Carriage Co., and in 10 years he had become Vice President and General Manager. He and William C. Durant ventured into automobile making when Durant purchased the Buick Motor Co. in 1910 and made Nash President.

Powerline, Road, Lake Swell Toll

Death rode rampant in Georgia Sunday as traffic and other accidents took a toll of seven lives.

Four persons were left injured, one of them seriously hurt.

Three Dalton youths, one a soldier home on his first furlough, and a Tennessee truck driver, were killed when the youths' auto crashed into the rear of the truck on a hill about 20 miles north of Dalton.

The State Highway Patrol listed the three youths as Lloyd Bramblett, Jr., Clyde Holloway and Pfc. Bentley S. Robertson, and Truck Driver Clayton B. Neal, of Ooltewah, Tenn.

Two Buford sisters, Helen Garner, 21, and Ruth Garner, 18, were drowned Sunday afternoon when the boat in which they were riding with two youths capsized on Lake Elder near Winder.

Dewitt Cheek, 30, of Toccoa, Georgia Power Company lineman, was electrocuted Sunday when his foot slipped on a power pole at Lake Burton and he touched a "hot line" carrying 6,900 volts, Clayton Police Chief Lamon Queen reported.

Chief Queen said Cheek was found dangling from the power pole after he had climbed the pole to fix a broken line. He had been working for the power company for several years, the chief said. The accident happened at Harvey's Boathouse.

The other youths injured less seriously in the highway accident, were listed as Floyd and Richard Bramblett, brother, and cousin of Lloyd, and Pvt. Ralph E. Black, who was driving the automobile.

Investigating troopers L. S. Vines and J. W. Moreland said the truck apparently was parked on the side of the highway because of engine trouble. Vines added that Black told him he did not see the truck until it was too late to avoid a crash.

The truck driver was thrown from the vehicle. He was alone in the truck.

The troopers said Richard Bramblett's ear was almost severed in the crash, but his condition was not considered serious.

The auto was destroyed and the truck badly damaged. The officers said no case was made.

The youths accompanying the two drowning victims, were Ray Veal and R. A. Heard, also of Buford.

Witnesses said they saw someone stand up in the boat, and the craft turned over almost immediately. Veal and Heard swam to the girls' rescue but they disappeared in 15 feet of water before the boys could reach them.

E. H. Elder, owner of the lake, said when lifeguards saw the overturned boat they rushed to the scene, but the girls had disappeared before they arrived.

Ralph Wells, 35, World War II veteran of Lawrenceville, was in serious condition in a hospital Sunday night after his car apparently went out of control and crashed about two miles from Lawrenceville on Highway 29.

Mediator Debating Cease-Fire

Arabs Lay Deadlock To Jewish Insistence On Agreement Terms

By THE UNITED PRESS.

Count Folke Bernadotte reached the critical stage Sunday in his negotiations with Arabs and Jews for a four-weeks truce in Palestine.

A dispatch from Amman Trans-Jordan, reported that Bernadotte, Swedish Mediator for the United Nations, might proclaim a cease fire status in Palestine today, leading up to a formal truce about Saturday.

But the Amman and other dispatches made it plain that not all angles of a truce agreement had been agreed upon.

Hence the possible alternatives were offered that Bernadotte (1) might proclaim a cease fire status, as suggested, and proclaim a formal truce after clearing up remaining points of difference, or (2) might decide to postpone the cease fire proclamation.

His decision is likely to be reached after a talk with Premier Mahmoud Fahmy Nokrashy, Pasha of Egypt, in Cairo today.

The question of continued immigration of Jewish men of military age to Palestine during a truce was the toughest one. There were various suggestions that such men might continue to enter Palestine but would be put under truce commission supervision when they arrived.

It was noticeable that dispatches from Arab capitals spoke of Bernadotte in the warmest terms while a Tel Aviv dispatch quoted an influential Israeli newspaper as voicing suspicion of his attitude on immigration.

The newspaper Mishmar said that the Count's request to the UN Security Council for an interpretation of the immigration clauses of its truce resolution "rouses suspicion." It implied fear that the Count was trying to stop the immigration.

King Abdullah, of Trans-Jordan, after talking to Count Bernadotte Sunday bitterly criticized the United States and Russia. He said they had secret motives for supporting Jews and were risking the start of a world war. He said President Truman's recognition of a Jewish state was a political move, and asked.

"Can a man support the Jews simply because he wants to be President again?"

An Egyptian communique said Sunday night that Egyptian light artillery had started shelling Jewish positions in the new City of Jerusalem including the southern Talpiyot suburb.

The Arab League announced in Cairo that units of the Saudi Arabian army had joined the Egyptians in Southern Palestine and that their advanced units were in action. It was specified that the Saudi Arabians had heavy and light artillery, tanks and armored cars.

Arab and Jewish dispatches indicated that Syrian and Lebanese forces had opened an attack in the direction of Safad.

92 DEGREES . . . AND SPLASH!

The 92-degree weather found swimming pools jammed to capacity Sunday as Atlantans celebrated the first weekend of the swimming season.

Many enthusiasts were basking in pools, as was Marilyn Edmonds, of 590 Elmwood Dr., N. E., when Photographer Hugh Stovall arrived.

More heat-packed weather is forecast today, with the thermometer hitting 90, and showers likely.

Lumber Plant's Fire Toll In Bibb $100,000

Constitution State News Service.

MACON, June 6—A spectacular fire Sunday afternoon swept through the sawmill and lumber yard of the Hamlin Lumber Company nine miles southwest of here in Bibb County, causing "well over $100,000 damage."

Henry Hamlin, owner of the Company, said his entire plant, including equipment and more than 110,000 feet of cut lumber, was destroyed. There was no insurance.

Hamlin said the fire started in a shavings shed in which a large boiler was kept in continuous operation. He said flames under the boiler apparently ignited the shavings.

The fire, fanned by a mild breeze, brought out more than a score of volunteer fire fighters who battled the blaze for five hours. The searing heat, however, kept the volunteers at an ineffective distance.

After eating through the sawmill plant, and two drying kilns laden with 50,000 feet of finished lumber, the fire spread quickly to stockpiles in the yard. There, 20,000 feet of unfinished lumber and 40,000 feet of finished oak flooring were destroyed.

W. A. Stokes, nightwatchman at the plant, discovered the fire shortly after 2:25 p. m. His early efforts to combat the flames were unsuccessful due to the terrific heat. He summoned help.

New Crests Batter Levees At Portland

PORTLAND, Ore., June 6—(AP) The second Columbia River flood crest to strike this metropolitan area within a week was battering levees protecting Northeast Portland Sunday night.

Treacherous high waters of the Northwest's greatest disaster will remain in the lower valley for a week or longer.

Floods in four Pacific Northwest States and British Columbia already have taken the lives of 26 persons, destroyed the Vanport homes of 18,700 — where 45 children and seven adults are still unaccounted for — and left an estimated 60,000 homeless in the region.

Damage in the wake of the two-week-old crest now spilling into the Pacific has soared to $140,000,000 and may go higher.

The Government river forecaster said the new crest caused by melting snows in the mountain headwaters of the Columbia will raise to "within a hair" of the highest stage that swept through the Portland-Vancouver sector last Tuesday.

Dikes weakened by the more than two weeks of high water were under constant patrol of troops and civilians Sunday night. Some are leaking. Sandbag battalions are fighting to prevent a major break-through along a 20-mile stretch of the North Portland main bulwark against the Columbia.

A small dike burst in the Clatskanie sector Sunday morning, where high waters of the two-week-old flood crest crashed against an incoming tide.

Avert Transit Strike

LOS ANGELES, June 6—(AP)—A city-wide streetcar and bus tie-up, threatened for midnight Sunday, was averted when company and union officials reached a settlement, they announced.

Sen. Wiley Denounces U. S. Reds

WASHINGTON, June 6—(UP) Chairman Alexander Wiley, Republican, Wisconsin, of the Senate Judiciary Committee, Sunday issued a scathing denunciation of the U. S. Communist party and the New York Daily Worker for their "vicious and debased propaganda" against the Mundt-Nixon Communist-control bill.

Emphasizing that neither he nor the Committee has reached a final decision on the measure, he accused the party of using "every shady trick in its dishonorable reportoire" to castigate committee members and arouse public opinion and emotion against the bill.

Wiley took the unusual course of issuing an "open letter" to the editors of the Daily Worker, the party's official newspaper. In vitriolic terms, he denounced Communist officials, not for their opposition to the bill as such, but for their demeanor before the Committee and their entire approach to the question.

The measure was passed by the House last month and now is being considered by Wiley's Committee. It ended public hearings last week and decided to take no further action until it gets opinions on the bill's constitutionality from U. S. Atty. Gen. Tom C. Clark and three private constitutional lawyers.

This apparently shelved the bill for this session since, even though it reaches the Senate floor, it may get caught in a last-minute legislative jam. It also faces a veto by President Truman, who has said he is opposed to outlawing any tag-end political party. The bill would do that in effect.

HUSBAND CONVICTED

Young Mother Admits Killing Brother-in-Law

VAN NUYS, Cal., June 6—(AP)—Police said young mother walked into the station Sunday and signed a statement that she, and not her husband in San Quentin Prison, killed her brother-in-law.

Detective Sgt. W. M. Fuson said Mrs. Coleen Berry, 21, was booked on suspicion of murder after making a lengthy statement. Investigating officers are checking the statement.

Her husband, Harold Berry, 20, now is serving a life term for the fatal shooting Dec. 4, 1947, of his brother, Murril Berry, 27, a landscape gardener.

The young woman, said detectives, reported her husband took the blame for the shooting, which occurred after a drinking party, because she had an infant child to care for.

Georgians To Attend Tobacco Meet

MYRTLE BEACH, S. C., June 6—(AP)—The three-day annual convention of the Bright Belt Warehouse Association will open here Monday, drawing tobacco men from Virginia, the Carolinas, Georgia and Florida.

Fred S. Royster, of Henderson, N. C., head of the group, will preside.

The annual meeting the South Carolina Border Belt Association at 10 a. m. will open the Fourth Annual session.

Featuring the afternoon program will be a testimonial dinner for Charles E. Gage, of Washington, D. C., retiring director of the U. S. Agriculture Department's tobacco branch.

Monday night, principal speakers will be James E. Thigpen, Gage's successor from Tarboro, N. C.; Harry Caldwell, of Greensboro, master of the North Carolina Grange, and David L. Kelly, of Winston-Salem, Assistant Secretary of the North Carolina Farm Bureau.

The President's breakfast for the Board of Governors will start the Tuesday session, with the annual meeting of the Board to follow immediately afterward.

2,050 MILES BY NOVEMBER

2 Scouts Begin Walk From Maine To Georgia

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., June 6 (UP)—Two lads from the state famous for its walking horses were out Sunday to prove to the nation that Tennessee can produce champion walking boys, too.

Paul Yambert, 20, of Knoxville, and Jim Calloway, 17, of Maryville, Tenn., were due to leave the slopes of Mt. Katahdin, far in northern Maine, for a hike to the flatlands of the South. Yambert hopes to cover some 2,050 miles on foot before November.

Coming down the Appalachian Trail, blazed years ago along the top of the Seaboard mountain range, the pair intend to be the first to make the entire hike. Before they left here (by automobile) for Maine, they figured that the longest such trip so far covered only 800 miles.

Calloway may drop out in September, to resume his schooling, but Yambert will make the entire trip if he can find a companion for the Southern leg into Georgia.

"The first 266 miles will be the hardest," Yambert said. "There are only three towns along the trail for that distance and we'll have to carry nine days' worth of food with us."

The boys plan to carry light packs and have additional supplies mailed to them by their families.

The youths — both Eagle Scouts — plan to "rough it" for almost the entire distance.

They're not planning to carry much clothing around with them and their food will be the lightest and most nutritional they can obtain.

"Our food will be largely made up of dried beef, oatmeal and dried fruit," Calloway said. "This diet will be supplemented by items we can purchase along the way."

They expect to average about 12 miles per day during the hike. The trail was set up by a chain of clubs all the way down the Eastern Seaboard for the benefit of hikers.

Yambert said that the trail is not kept up too well and that they'll probably have to do a lot of trail breaking.

Yambert got the idea for the hike about a year ago. He gives $500 as a conservative estimate of the cost of the project.

Griswold in Crash

ATHENS, Monday, June 7—(AP) Dwight P. Griswold, chief of the American Aid Mission to Greece, and Mrs. Griswold were injured slightly Sunday when a truck struck their car. American officials said both suffered minor cuts and bruises. They were treated by a Greek physician and released.

Sen. Capper To Retire at End of Term

WASHINGTON, June 6—(UP) Republican Sen. Arthur Capper, who has represented Kansas in the U. S. Senate for 30 years, announced Sunday he would not run for re-election. Powerful forces in his home state have been urging him to step aside for a younger man.

Capper, the oldest man in the Senate, will be 83 on July 14. A leader of the Senate Farm Bloc and an ardent dry, he is chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee and ranking Republican member of the Foreign Relations Committee. His fifth consecutive Senate term expires at the end of this year.

HUSBAND-WIFE DOCTOR TEAM GRANTED LICENSE FOR HOME-AUTO RADIO CALLS

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., June 6—(UP)—A husband and wife team of doctors Sunday revealed that they had been granted a license for the nation's first "Calling Dr. Kildare" radio station.

The station is now functioning, with loud-speakers and microphones in their home and in each automobile. If one gets a call, the other can reach him by radio immediately. If neither husband nor wife is at home, the maid summons the doctor wanted.

"Then, too," the husband said, "there's a safety feature involved. If my wife has any road trouble, she can contact me by radio. We're never out of touch with each other."

The wife-doctor is an obstetrician, and gets calls at all hours of day or night, with cases overlapping all too frequently. The couple can maintain radio contact when they are as much as 30 miles apart, on a frequency above that issued ordinary amateur operators.

Panama Envoy Cut in Traffic Altercation

CHICAGO, June 6—(INS)—Enrique Alberto Arias, 36, Panama's Consul in Chicago, reported to police he was slugged early Sunday by two men during a traffic argument on Chicago's North Side.

Arias said he, his wife and a friend, Filipe Lopez were driving behind another car which suddenly stopped and then backed into the Consul's.

Arias said two men got out of the other car and shoved Lopez, who had started to get out, back into the front seat.

The Consul said the men then struck him several times in the face, returned to their car and drove away.

Mrs. Arias watched the incident as she sat in the front seat.

Arias received first aid for cuts on his face.

Lone Ranger Begins Over WCON Monday

(Picture on Page 2)

The Lone Ranger soon will gallop the air waves over WCON.

"Hi-Yo, Silver!"—ringing call of the Lone Ranger to his trusty white steed—has become as much a part of American life as hot dogs, baseball and ice cream cones.

David Carpenter, WCON General Manager said The Constitution station will begin airing the gripping drama of justice in the old West at 7:30 p. m. next Monday, June 14. The program will be heard at the same hour each Wednesday, Friday and Monday thereafter.

The Lone Ranger saga has been sponsored throughout the South since 1938 by American Bakeries Company, which maintains its home office in Atlanta. Long a favorite in The Constitution comic section each Sunday, it will be a WCON feature as result of arrangements completed with President C. Stuart Broeman, of American Bakeries Company, and with the Tucker Wayne and Company, advertising agency, of Atlanta.

Tonto the Lone Ranger's faithful Indian companion, and other valiant characters that have made the program a favorite of millions, also will flash into action over WCON.

Truman, Taking On All Comers, Sharpens Spurs for Congress

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

ABOARD TRUMAN TRAIN EN ROUTE WESTWARD, June 6 (AP)—President Truman took on all comers at a Wyoming reception Sunday and offered to take on Congress when he returns East.

Along the way from Omaha, he collected the equipment to do a little goading of Congress, and promised to use it.

OMAHA, June 6—(AP)—Nebraska Democratic Chairman William Ritchie said Sunday the Nebraska delegation to the Democratic National Convention "is badly split," and that he himself has withdrawn his support from President Truman as a result of the President's visit in Omaha Saturday.

Ritchie, one of the 12 Nebraska delegates to the convention, declared Nebraska and Iowa Democrats "were given the bum's rush" during the President's Omaha visit.

He claimed arrangements for the visit were "in the hands of Republicans."

It was silver spurs at Grand Island, Neb., first thing Sunday morning. At Kearney, he added a pair of cowboy boots. And across the line in Cheyenne, Wyo., a ten-gallon sombrero. At Kearney, he went to church and at stops on the route of his special train he told wayside audiences they ought to, too. But he omitted any discussion of political issues on the Sabbath.

Late in the day, the Presidential special rolled into Cheyenne. Mr. Truman drove to the Governor's mansion, spoke to perhaps 2,500 people, and agreed to shake hands with as many of them as he could. Only a few hundred made it.

That was new technique. Presidents ordinarily don't just wander into a town and meet whoever turns up. The Secret Service doesn't like it, for one thing.

But things are different in an election year.

Gov. Lester Hunt introduced Mr. Truman. And later he introduced Mrs. Truman and daughter Margaret.

The President said he wanted to come back some time "when I can talk to you straight from the shoulder on certain things that confront this country."

From Ace Tyrell, Director of Cheyenne Frontier Days celebration, the President got a printed, personal invitation to the event next month, plus the cowboy hat.

From Cheyenne, the tour headed westward, with a stop at Sun Valley, Idaho, planned for Monday night.

In a talk at Grand Island, Neb., where several hundred people swarmed over the railroad track, Mr. Truman exhibited his new silver spurs and said:

"Those spurs are wonderful. When I get them on, I can take the Congress to town. Don't think I can't. I'll give them a trial just as soon as I get back to Washington."

At Kearney, a lot of people missed church to watch the Trumans drive a mile from the station to the First Baptist Church.

The Rev. Vernon P. Pearson welcomed the first family to "this sanctuary and this city" and delivered a sermon on "The Essence of Christianity."

The President and Mrs. Truman joined in the hymns only occasionally, but Margaret went right through them from start to finish.

LONE RANGER RIDES ON WCON!—That stirring saga of justice in the Old West will ride the air waves over WCON, starting next Monday at 7:30 p. m. Shown signing the contract for the program on WCON are, left to right: Tucker Wayne, of Tucker Wayne & Company, Atlanta advertising agency; C. Stuart Broeman, President of the American Bakeries Company, makers of Merita bread and cake, sponsors in the South since 1938, and David Carpenter, general manager of WCON.

Lewis Fears Ire Of Miners

WASHINGTON, June 6—(INS) John L. Lewis warned Sunday that his miners will "inflame with white anger" if the operators do not free a $39,000,000 welfare fund to permit benefit payments to crippled diggers and destitute widows and children.

The chief of the nation's 400,000 soft coal miners declared "distress" payments to 146,000 persons must cease June 30 because the 1946 welfare fund will be exhausted and the mine owners have tied up the 39-million-dollar 1947 fund by a court action.

Lewis fired a bitter blast at the operators with whom he resumes bargaining on a 1948 work contract Monday under a Federal Court order. The current contract expires June 30 and the United Mine Workers President has sworn he will sign no new contract lacking a satisfactory pension provision. He declared:

"Although there is now approximately $39,000,000 in the 1947 welfare fund none of it may be spent because of a court suit filed by the operators.

"If this desperately needed assistance to these beneficiaries stops, as it will at the end of June unless the 1947 fund is unfrozen, it will cause a major revulsion throughout the industry and will inflame the mining population with white anger.

"These payments have helped to mitigate to some extent the tragic plight of these men, women and children who are the victims of the waste and bitterly-hard conditions of the industry.

"The 1947 fund has the money. But it's locked up in the bank by the perfidious action of the coal operators. These are the men who recorded profit increases ranging as high as 760 percent between 1946 and 1947."

The miners' 1947 welfare fund, covered under the work contract for that year, called for operator payment of 10 cents a ton. Ezra Van Horn, operators trustee, has pending a court action charging that the $100-a-month pension agreement voted over his opposition by Lewis and Sen. Bridges, Republican, New Hampshire, is unconstitutional.

Lewis' statement declared that because of the prohibitive cost of insurance to diggers "the disabled and destitute miners and their families usually have no other source of income except the pittances they receive in some cases from the states."

Enters Home Contest

RICHLAND, June 6—The Richland Lions Club has voted to enter the Champion Home Town contest sponsored by the Georgia Power Company. Details of the project were presented by Hearn H. Lumpkin, representative of the Power Company's community development division.

Seeks Second 'Bombardment'

NORTH PLATTE, Neb., June 6 — (UP) — President Truman, bidding for a second term, drew a political parallel Sunday in a little story he told a crowd of 2,000 persons who welcomed his special train here.

Mr. Truman said he heard the story from Maj. Gen. Butler Miltonberger, past President of the Thirty-fifth Division Association, at Omaha Saturday. It concerned a young GI who met Miltonberger under a tank during a barrage.

Miltonberger remarked that the shelling seemed heavier in the second World War.

"Were you in the first World War, too?" the private asked.

"Yes," Miltonberger replied.

"Then you're the biggest . . . fool I ever saw," said the private.

The crowd roared.

Fights Seen In Shooting Of Soviet, German Unity

WASHINGTON, June 6—(AP)—Western diplomats Sunday night looked for new trouble with Russia on two allied fronts.

Number one sore spot is efforts by the Western powers to unify their zones of Germany and fit Western German production into the European Recovery Plan, a matter the Reds are expected to attack easily with a new propaganda campaign launched after a Russian soldier reportedly was shot in Germany's American zone.

The United States, Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg have reached agreements concerning the unification of Western Germany which will be published today.

The Reds are expected to pounce upon the agreements in renewed efforts to force the Western powers out of Berlin and make the city the headquarters for a body which would claim to be an "all-German" government.

The Russians said the sentry was wounded at the border of the United States and Russian zones of occupation in Berlin.

According to the Russian charge, the sentry was shot while on duty in a wooded area near the residence of Marshal Vassily D. Sokolovsky, Soviet military commander. The sentry is permitted by special agreement to patrol his post into American territory to guard the approaches to Sokolovsky's home.

The propaganda campaign, similar to others in the past, is apparently designed to provoke fear and discontent in Berlin's worker population.

The Soviets have been hampered in their current propaganda attacks on the Western conferences thus far by lack of adequate official information on the London agreements. Such information will be made public when the six nations which held the conference release a 1,200-word official report.

Their agreements have been authoritatively described as providing for creation of a loosely-federalized Western German regime covering the American, British and French occupation zones; joint international control of production of the great Ruhr industrial area; and other steps necessary to make Western Germany self-supporting and a major contributor to economic reconstruction of Europe.

Initial Communist opposition to these agreements may be focused first and most effectively in France. The United States and Britain have long worked for Western German unity, but the London agreements mark a radical departure in French foreign policy. They are scheduled to be thoroughly debated at Paris.

Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, Primate of Hungary, meanwhile told Catholics that they should stop reading newspapers of the Government parties and listening to Hungarian broadcasts. In a pastoral letter read in all Roman Catholic churches, Cardinal Mindszenty said:

"To the bitter disgrace of this country, falsehood, deceit and terror were never greater in the course of her history."

ERP CUT CASTS SHADOW AT PHILLY

A More Receptive Vandenberg?

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON, June 6—(AP)—Friends predicted Sunday a bitter congressional fight over restoring House-slashing foreign-aid funds might put Sen. Arthur Vandenberg in a receptive mood toward the Republican presidential nomination.

Unless he changed his mind, associates said Vandenberg would not cast any new light on his availability for the nomination before the Party's National Convention met in Philadelphia June 21.

The Michigan Senator has said he was not a candidate and did not want the nomination. But he never has said flatly that he would not take it.

House action cutting European Recovery Program funds apparently dismayed Vandenberg. Friends said he regarded it as a direct slap at the bipartisan foreign policy under which he helped steer through Congress the original authorization bill for the program.

His readiness to take the lead in testifying for more funds before the Appropriations Committee—of which he isn't a member—was looked upon as a sign he was willing to go all out to keep this policy from getting a black eye.

Some of those who want Vandenberg to get the nomination see it this way:

If he concludes the Republicans otherwise might be tagged in the campaign with the "isolationist" label Democrats are applying to the House action, he would be much more willing to accept nomination.

Friends checked with him last week on a new crop of rumors he was going to have something more to say about his political position.

Vandenberg was reported to have replied he now saw no need of expanding his views.

This negative assurance is just about all some of his admirers need to take a hand in the backstage political poker game many of them think is going to be played at Philadelphia.

Their theory is that as a non-candidate, Vandenberg is about the most attractive possibility for a compromise if Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Sen. Robert A. Taft and Harold E. Stassen tie themselves up in a knot in their scramble for the nomination.

There is evidence the possibility has occurred to the leading candidates.

The visit to Washington last week of Herbert E. Brownell, Russel Sprague and Edwin F. Jaeckle, Dewey's top strategists, was viewed in some quarters as a trip to reconnoiter the Vandenberg fox hole.

Many of Dewey's friends made little secret of the fact they considered the Michigan Senator as potentially one of their most dangerous opponents for the nomination.

Despite the lack of any organization, the makings are on hand to roll a fast boom across the convention floor if there arise the "utterly improbable contingencies" about which Vandenberg spoke March 2 in urging withdrawal of his name from the Nebraska primary.

Atlantan Named State DAV Head

AUGUSTA, June 6—(AP)—Paul Ginsberg, of Atlanta, Ga., State Commander of Jewish War Veterans, was named 1948-49 commander of Georgia Department, Disabled American Veterans' here Sunday as the twenty-eighth Annual State DAV Convention came to a close.

Ginsberg succeeds Thomas Fulmer, of Augusta.

The 1949 convention will be held sometime next June in Atlanta. The exact date will be decided by the new officers.

Other officers to serve with Ginsberg will be named by the new commander at a later date.

Draft Bill Placed First As Solons Eye June 19

WASHINGTON, June 6—(AP)—Congress put the two-year draft bill at the top of its legislative heap Sunday and prepared to work overtime in a two-week drive toward a June 19 finish.

Many headline bills—oleomargarine tax repeal, Social Security, civil rights, farm planning, and others—seemed in danger of being shouldered aside in the adjournment rush.

The Senate picks up debate on the Selective Service measure where it left off Friday night—with Sen. Langer, Republican, North Dakota, holding the floor for an amendment to wipe out segregation in the armed forces.

But Langer told a reporter he had had his say and would let others take over. A Republican-Democrat coalition is anxious to shelve the racial issue proposal, and get about the business of grinding out the military bill.

House leaders hope to tackle the draft measure before the week is out.

The House, in the meantime, arranged to debate a Senate-approved measure to let 200,000 of Europe's displaced persons into this country.

There was an air of haste on Capitol Hill as lawmakers took up other important measures.

The Senate Finance Committee hoped to finish work before Monday night on the third "must" bill — a one-year extension of the Reciprocal Trade Program Authority which expires next Satuurday.

Chairman Millikin, Republican, Colorado, of the Finance Committee said he expected both the Senate and House to beat the Saturday deadline.

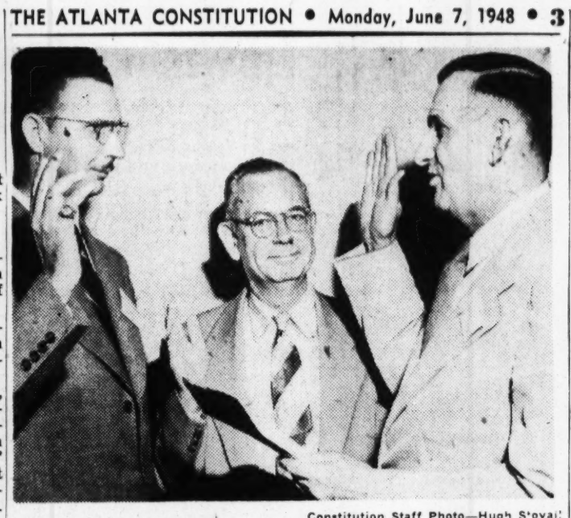

The House has passed the extension, which gives Congress a veto control over certain tariff cuts.

The Senate Judiciary Committee is taking up the Mundt-Nixon anti-Communist bill and an anti-lynching measure.

Chairman Wiley, Republican, Wisconsin, said about all he expected on the latter in a meeting Monday was a decision on when to hold a "full discussion" of its terms. Proponents said that didn't sound encouraging for Senate action before adjournment. The House has passed it.

But Wiley held out more hope for the Committee action on the Mundt-Nixon measure, also passed by the House.

Leaders in both bodies plan Saturday sessions this week as well as some night meetings.

MAGIC COUNTY YARDSTICK

Poll Indicates GOP Victory

By STEFFAN ANDREWS

WASHINGTON, June 6—(NANA)—Ten key counties in five Midwest, one Eastern and three Western States forecast a Republican victory in the 1948 Presidential election.

This is the prediction of Emil Hurja, veteran political opinion poll strategist, who forecast the sweeping President Roosevelt elections for the Democratic National Committee in 1932 and 1936.

The 10 counties, according to Hurja, have called the tune in every Presidential race since 1896 and their voting has been almost identical with the national average for the last 13 Presidential elections.

Emil Hurja

Hurja, who is now a Republican, professes not to know why this is so, but he states flatly that the trend in these counties since 1940 unmistakably presages a Republican victory in 1948."

He lists the 10 as Belmont County, Ohio; Fayette County, Pennsylvania; Vandenburgh County, Indiana; Marion in West Virginia; Jasper in Iowa; Crook in Oregon; Laramie, Wyoming; San Joaquin, California, and Coss and Strafford Counties in New Hampshire.

In the last 1946 Congressional election, the Republicans got 51.1 percent of the votes in the 10 key counties, which leads Hurja to believe that a Republican trend is in motion throughout the country.

"There's simply something in their population make-up that combines with voting elements and political beliefs to approximate most closely the aggregate national vote," says Hurja of these counties.

Although New Hampshire leads the states with two of the 10 key counties, Hurja says there is a total of 17 counties in the country which have been right in every Presidential election since 1900. In this list Iowa leads with four counties.

He lists the seven additional counties as Decatur, Monona and Palo Alto, all in Iowa; Klamath County in Oregon; Brown County, South Dakota; Utah County, Utah, and Nez Perce County in Idaho.

Hurja points out that in the 17 counties the Republican average vote for President since 1900 was 45.8 percent, or within four-tenths of one percent of the national average. The national Republican vote was 46.2 percent.

"In other words," says Hurja, "these counties are off only four votes out of every thousand of approximating the national average."

None of the counties holds a large metropolitan center, but they are typical in that the division of rural and urban votes is about identical with the national proportion, he says.

Hurja was a former Washington publisher and political expert who acted as Jim Farley's right-hand man when the latter was Roosevelt's Democratic Party National Chairman.

On the basis of figures gathered by Hurja and Democratic headquarters pollsters, Farley was about to make his famous prediction that Roosevelt would sweep all states but Maine and Vermont in the 1936 election.

Hurja now is a registered Republican and a resident of Crystal Falls, Mich.

Russell Asks Dixie Nominee

WASHINGTON, June 6—(INS) Sen. Russell, a leader of the Southern revolt against President Truman, advocated Sunday that the Democratic National Convention choose a "states rights" candidate.

Russell, in a radio interview, said that "if I had my choice I would select such a man as my colleague, Sen. George, or Sen. Byrd, Democrat, Virginia."

George and Byrd have been proposed by other Southern leaders as presidential candidates who would be "ideal" for the Dixie Democrats."

CIO Doubles Southern Membership

WASHINGTON, June 6—(AP)—The CIO said Sunday it has doubled its membership in Dixie during the two years of its southern organizing drive.

Van A. Bittner, National Director of the CIO Organizing Committee, said the CIO had 400,000 members in its unions in the South when the drive began.

"Since then we have added more than 400,000 members to the CIO rolls in the South and have established more than 800 new local unions," Bittner's statement said.

As a result, he contended the South's economy is gradually improving.

"The wage structure of the entire region has been improved as a result of our campaign," he said. "Many industrialists had the mistaken idea that they could prevent their employees from organizing by granting them pay increases won by unions through negotiations.

Atlanta's Proximity to River Web Seen as Gem for Economic Growth

By WELLINGTON WRIGHT
Constitution Staff Writer.

This is the second of five interviews with Gen. Wheeler, Chief of Engineers, in which he outlines the development of waterways, power and recreational facilities on Georgia's rivers. Gen. Wheeler, great advocate of multipurpose dams, is retiring June 30.

WASHINGTON, June 6—"Water is the most important basic resource of the Southeast," says Lt. Gen. Raymond A. Wheeler, Chief of the Corps of Engineers, Department of the Army. "The social and economic welfare of Georgia and the other Southeastern States depends on the proper development and the wise use of that resource."

The Corps of Engineers has drawn up a vast program for the multipurpose development of the immense inland waterway resources of Georgia and the rest of the Southeast and Gen. Wheeler's remark on the importance of water and how people use it came about during a discussion of plans for that program.

"A few days ago, I attended an important meeting in the North," continued Gen. Wheeler. "And the opinion of that meeting was that the five Great Lakes are the most valuable resources of that entire northern region. Now, let's look at the map . . ."

We went over to a large map of the United States on the wall of his office here. He pointed out Georgia and then Atlanta.

"Just look at Atlanta's location," he said. "Atlanta doesn't have any Great Lakes, but it's in the very heart of a great series of river systems. In regard to its river systems, no other city in the United States is so favorably located."

Gen. Wheeler pointed out the river systems one by one and named them . . . the Savannah River . . . the Altamaha System, including the Oconee River and the Ocmulgee River . . . the Chattahoochee . . . Flint . . . Apalachicola System . . . and in North Georgia, the Etowah River and the other tributaries to the Coosa-Alabama System . . .

"These are the water resources of Georgia!" he exclaimed. "They are immense natural resources . . . Georgia can boast of its river resources as few states can."

He again pointed out Atlanta.

"According to the census of 1940," he said, "Atlanta is one of four American cities of more than 300,000 population which is not on navigable water. . . . The others are Denver, Colo., Indianapolis, Ind., and Columbus, Ohio. . . . All of these four cities happen to be State capitals. . . . The lesson seems to be that in normal circumstances the growth of a city depends on its proximity to navigable water. . . . Now, if we can bring navigation up the Chattahoochee to a point more accessible to Atlanta . . . then you can just watch Atlanta really grow!"

Gen. Wheeler then spoke of the social and economic importance of the multipurpose development of the country's inland waterway systems. And, because of the special problems of the region, he insisted that Georgia and the other Southern States have a peculiarly vital interest in the proper development of their own water resources. But he reiterated again and again that in order to obtain the full benefits of those resources the development must be multipurpose in their nature. On this point, he said:

"We must develop our rivers so as to get the maximum beneficial use of water for all the many purposes which it serves. Plans of the Corps of Engineers give consideration to all uses of water—for domestic, agricultural and industrial water supply, for navigation, for generation of hydro-electric power, for control of floods to prevent loss of life, damage to property and erosion of land, for reduction of pollution, for recreation and for other beneficial purposes.

"Unless we develop our inland waterways, there is not only a limit to the standard of living the land can support, but there is also danger of destruction of the land's ability to support human life at all.

"Therefore, intelligent use of our water resources is essential to our continued health and welfare. Water is one of the most important single items in our daily lives and in our economic structure. Much of our progress towards the goal of a higher standard of living depends on how we use the water resources that are available to us. The answer is multipurpose development of our streams and rivers.

"The advantages of such a development are many. If we conserve our water supplies and distribute them more uniformly throughout the year, we can support a greater population, grow more food, develop hydroelectric power, use the waterways for transportation and recreation and use more water for commercial and industrial purposes. All these activities, in turn, create a greater prosperity and a better life for every citizen.

"Water is the key tool to open up that kind of a development . . . With that key tool under their control, the people of Georgia and the rest of the Southeast can put themselves on the road to a solution of their social and economic problems . . ."

They Missed the Winning Run!

Patrons of Andy Botkin's Tavern are mighty fond of that new television set—which enables them to enjoy outstanding sports events and a friendly glass of beer at the same time.

But they were mighty disappointed Saturday when closing time came before the final inning of that night game (the score was 2 to 2!). They begged Andy to stay open just five more minutes—but he wouldn't!

Because Andy subscribes to the Brewers' Program of "Self Regulation"—which lives up to the letter of the law, and doesn't tolerate deviation from good practice in tavern management—whether applied to courtesy or closing hours.

And from where I sit, Andy's doing his patrons a service—even if they missed that winning run. Tavern keepers are protecting the rights of temperate people to enjoy a moderate beverage like beer—by seeing it's always served in a decent, law-abiding place.

Southern Building Boom Gaining In Momentum

BALTIMORE, June 6—(AP)—New evidence of increasing momentum in the postwar building boom of 16 Southern States was given Sunday by the Manufacturers Record. It reported the value of construction contracts let in the South last month reached $270,000,000.

This was the highest total in any one month since September, 1942, the Record said.

It brought the total value of Southern contract awards for the first five months of 1948 to $1,135,516,000. The figure was surpassed only in the comparable period of 1942, during the height of the war-induced Southern construction boom.

The January-May figure for 1942 was $1,867,983,000.

"The current five-month total was considerably strengthened by the fact that private building, exclusive of industrial construction, is now about two and one-half times the value for such work in the same months of last year," the trade publication reported.

The magazine estimated that about one-quarter of the value of Southern construction is currently being financed by private interests.

The magazine reported:

"Public building for the year so far is up. The total is $248,630,000, as compared with the $109,792,000 for last year at this time.

"Of the current figure, $103,189,000 is for government buildings and hospitals and $145,441,000 for schools. Total for these last year at the end of the first five months were $56,361,000 and $53,431,000, respectively."

Hotel Business Is Held in Slump

CHICAGO, June 6—(INS)—A general slump in the hotel business was reported in a survey made public in Chicago Sunday.

The survey showed that most hotels east of the Rockies were beset by the downward trend resulting from increased operating costs and a fall-off demand.

Among the exceptions, were Philadelphia, site of this year's Democratic and Republican national conventions, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

BOYS' STATE DELEGATES—Part of Decatur's delegation registers for the American Legion's annual Boys' State Convention which starts today at Georgia Military Academy, College Park. For a week, 200 boys from all parts of Georgia will study the problems of government and then elect a slate of officers, including a Governor and a Lieutenant Governor. High Smith, State Trooper, of Madison, is shown enrolling, l. to r., Robert Mote, Nesbert Quarles, Dan Lynch and Lawrence Mote, all of Decatur.

Record Class To Receive Degrees At University's 145th Graduation

Constitution State News Service.

ATHENS, June 6—The largest class in history will receive degrees at the 145th annual graduation exercises at the University of Georgia here Thursday. More than 1,000 members of the senior class will be presented diplomas.

The graduation exercises began Sunday when the Rev. Halford E. Luccock, of the Yale University Divinity School, delivered the baccalaureate sermon in the Fine Arts Auditorium.

The commencement address will be given Thursday by Daniele Redfearn, University alumnus and Florida attorney. Redfearn, a former president of the Florida Bar Association, graduated from the University in 1909 with the B. L. degree. He is a member of the Board of Managers of the Georgia Alumni Society and formerly was out-of-state President of the group.

Two degrees will be awarded post-humously, Registrar J. Ralph Thaxton announced. Marvin J. Wiggins, Smithville, who was killed on Okinawa, and Ralph W. Tribble, Roberta, who was killed in an automobile accident last Fall will be honored with the post-humous awards.

Graduates from Atlanta are:

BACHELOR OF LAWS—Charles Montgomery Lokey, Dan MacDougald, Jr., Richard Russell McCauley, Henry Getzen Neal, Morgan Callaway Stanford, Douglas Wade Thornton, Jr.

Georgian Flees Hotel Fire, 4 Die

KILGORE, Texas, June 6—(AP) Four persons were burned to death early Sunday when a flash fire gutted the two-story Tulsa Hotel here.

Three of the four victims were identified as George Clifton Young, of Jacksonville, Texas; Gerald Lee, 19, of Odin, Ill., and Victor Eason, 31, of Kilgore.

The fourth remained unidentified. More than two dozen other guests in the hotel fled to safety. Five of them were hospitalized. One was not expected to live. Fire Chief W. J. McBride said the cause of the early morning blaze was still undetermined. It started on the second floor of the brick building. The loss was unofficially estimated at $150,000.

Mike Carlton, 45, a Kilgore dirt contractor, said he was drinking coffee in the hotel cafe at 5 a. m. when he heard someone shout "Fire."

"I ran up to the second floor and started routing people out of their rooms. I banged doors and told 'em to get out," he said.

Dan Kirkland, 50, of Nichols, Ga., a guest, said "The fire started and was over in a matter of a couple of minutes."

He said he carried B. P. Dillahunty, operator of the hotel and coffee shop, outside. Dillahunty was painfully burned.

The New Look

SHORT HAIRCUTS and long skirts aren't the only things that can produce a New Look. Clean-up, paint-up and other community improvement projects can bring the new look to the old home town.

For nearly four years the Georgia Power Company's Better Home Towns Program has helped towns all over the state acquire a new look. Company representatives have worked hand in hand with civic groups in your town to help make it a cleaner, brighter, more prosperous place in which to live.

It's important to you for the Georgia Power Company to continue to grow and prosper—to continue to earn a living wage. Only so long as it does can it continue to help make your home town a better home town.

We Need More Courageous Solicitors

Sol. Gen. Clower, of the Rome Circuit, is winning the respect and support of all Georgia with his continuing efforts at law enforcement.

His latest accomplishment, a spectacular large-scale raid in which State and Federal officers swooped down on 11 dives in Chattooga County's notorious "moonshine district," should shame many another so-called officer of the law in whose area bootlegging and gambling flourish.

The truth of the matter is that too many sheriffs and solicitors are political hacks who either are tied in directly with the hoodlums who flagrantly violate the law or are reluctant to take any action other than an occasional token raid for fear of political reprisals.

Thus it is that when a man unafraid, as Clower, moves against the more vicious and flagrant of the racketeers in his circuit, it is something more than refreshing.

There is no need kidding ourselves; Georgia needs more officers who take their duties as seriously. A great many counties of the State have slot machines and other gambling devices. Prostitution flourishes in roadside juke-joints and tourist courts. Liquor is readily available in areas legally dry.

Unless more sheriffs and solicitors of the Clower caliber are elected—and re-elected—there may come a time when the rats who flaunt our laws will actually run the State.

Let us do everything possible to get rid of them while there is yet time.

We Must Have More Nurses

Graduates of the Emory University School of Nursing had their commencement ceremonies Saturday evening. We noted with interest, in the story of the ceremony, that the first class was graduated in 1906 and consisted of one young lady. Through 1921 only 89 students had been graduated. Saturday the 1948 class consisted of 48 young ladies.

This was the homecoming year and 100 alumnae were present for the reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Woodruff. In attendance, as honorary members, were those who had earned membership during the war period by serving as nurses' aides. This points up a present problem. Nursing is becoming more and more specialized with an accompanying increase in educational demands. These be changing times and it becomes obvious that modern hospital staffs will need a larger development of professional nurses' aides to supplement the work of the graduate nurse. That such a program may require some source of assistance is probable. All hospitals are having a difficult time meeting increased costs.

Emory University's entire medical program has received assistance from the Emily and Ernest Woodruff Foundation and Atlanta continues, thereby, to look forward to the development of a great medical center built around Emory University and the Atlanta-DeKalb Hospital Authority, which operates Grady Hospital. It will require more and more nurses and an accompanying staff of aides.

The Russians Seek a 'Compromise'

Reports that the Russians now are working for a compromise with the Western Powers which would place Berlin fully under Soviet control is but another indication of how the Kremlin manipulates. For months the Russians have tried every conceivable irritant in order to drive the United States, Britain and France out of Berlin, though the city is under four-power control by agreement. Having failed, however, and also having suffered a considerable setback in the recent Italian elections, the Russians now seem to be bent on consolidating what gains they have made in Europe. And they had rather such consolidation be out from under the watchful eyes of Western forces in Berlin, deep in the Soviet Zone.

If the plan reported is accurate, the Russians are ready to resume participation in the Allied Control Authority for Germany and such Western personnel as is necessary for that function would be allowed to remain in Berlin, but as guests of the Soviet rather than as administrators of portions of the city. Furthermore, the Russians are ready to work out satisfactory arrangements for transportation of this personnel in and out of Berlin.

Soviet diplomacy, so-called, is full of surprises. But seldom does it lose sight of the end desired. The Kremlin has tried hard to make life so unpleasant for the Western countries in Berlin that they would have to get out. Now it is ready to start wheedling. The important thing is to get the democracies out of Berlin so they won't know what is going on and be able to report it to the world. The fact that a small number would be left for the functions of the Allied Control Council would be of no consequence. For the secret police would see that they were so restricted as to get little if any valuable information. As matters stand now, the West is a bottleneck to the Kremlin's ambitions.

Gen. MacArthur Gains in Stature

WASHINGTON—Yielding to the logic of his reply, the Senate Appropriations Committee has dropped its plans for calling Gen. Douglas MacArthur back from the Pacific to testify on Army occupation problems in Japan. When the invitation was sent him the Pacific Commander asked to be excused on the grounds that his return to the United States at this time, on the eve of the Republican National Convention in Philadelphia, would be misunderstood.

Having been boosted as a presidential candidate, he did not want to appear to be coming back to the country for a triumphal entry just before the Republicans met to select their ticket. If the Senate committee desired to hear him at some later date, after the convention is held, he would be perfectly agreeable to that course, he said. But he just did not think it would be proper for him to come at the present time.

Before leaving on his western trip President Truman indicated that he thought Gen. MacArthur should be the master of his own course and hence he had no intention of ordering him back to the United States at this time, if the General did not want to come.

It was after this that the Senate committee, headed by Sen. Styles Bridges, of New Hampshire, appropriately decided to drop the matter for the time being.

Gen. MacArthur emerges from the incident with much credit to himself. Whatever his intentions, there can be little doubt that his position would have been greatly misunderstood if he had chosen to accept the committee's invitation right now.

He would have been accused by his enemies of trying to make political capital out of his role as one of the great military heroes of the war—a course many of his friends would like to see him follow.

There is a considerable MacArthur-for-President following in the country and had the General seen fit to return at this time, he would have been certain to receive a reception which would have had repercussions on the coming GOP national convention.

For that very reason none of the other Republican candidates looked with any favor on his coming. With the GOP convention apparently headed for a deadlock between Dewey, Taft and Stassen forces, the thought of a MacArthur triumphal homecoming was, to say the least, unsettling.

Alone among America's leading military figures, the General has not been back to the United States once since the outbreak of the war in which he played such a conspicuous part. Caught in Bataan when the Japs moved into the Philippines, he went from there to Australia. He was too busy fighting the war to come back while the conflagration was on, and since then he has been too busy administering the problems of occupation in Japan.

In launching his campaign for the presidency his friends entered his name in the Wisconsin preferential primary. He won eight of the delegates there to 19 for Harold E. Stassen and none for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, a favorable showing considering the fact that he made no active canvass for support, whereas Stassen and Dewey made a number of speeches in the State.

Had Gen. MacArthur returned to the country to press his bid for the nomination he undoubtedly would have been an important factor in the convention. He did not want to trade on his victories over Japan to gain political preferment. It was this same spirit that caused him to reject the Senate committee's invitation to come back and testify in public hearings just before the national convention was to meet.

The General gains in stature by his decision.

No Excuse For Poor Roads

(Upson County News.)

The Atlanta Constitution recently made a bold exposure of the situation in the Highway Department, all of which is true.

A good many people in Georgia have been misled by the promises and loud spoken good intentions of the Arnall-Thompson administrations.

Georgia today is a rich manufacturing State with contributing agricultural and forest industry to round out her economy.

There is absolutely no excuse for roads of this State to be in bad repair. We have cement—foundation rock—cheap Trinidad asphalt—abundant labor—modern machines, and plenty of tax money—which together with Federal help is all we need to make our main highways and country roads equal to any in the land.

RALPH McGILL

Radcliffe Starts Up Hill to Fame

Another Georgia boy is going trudging off toward the baseball wars, and as far as we, or any of the soothsayers know, he may be another big story of the future with printers reaching for the 96-point type to put his name in ribbons across the tops of newspaper pages.

Hugh Radcliffe has left Thomaston with his heart set on the big leagues. At 20 he weighs 185 pounds with a belly like a shad and legs and arms thewed and supple.

The great and exciting thing about them is—you never know.

Few, looking at a kid leaving Royston, Ga., a long time ago, would have paid much attention to him. He wore short pants and he was going off to catch the steam cars to go to Augusta, Ga.

His name was Tyrus Raymond Cobb.

Cocky They tell me that this Radcliffe lad is cocky and sure of himself and not abashed in the presence of his elders.

That's good. If he has got the stuff it will carry him far and time will trim it down and temper it and make it good medicine to have in a tight. If he hasn't, he will lose it and acquire humility.

There never was a cocky one like that kid that left Royston in short pants. It was to make a lot of persons speak and think harshly of him through the years, but it carried him to the crest and his name still is there.

Records Thumb through the record books and you will see the name of Cobb up there at the top in a lot of the columns. He is a graying man now, with a thick waistline, and he has thought of his old home town in the form of a hospital.

But back there years ago—well, he was just another kid with his face set toward the future and not afraid of the path that climbed up toward some dangerous peaks.

It is one of the great things of sports, which has its books and its auditors warning about costs and expenses, that every year another crop of young men come to it, giving it their strength and their hearts and their enthusiasm.

Fight Every year they come and always there are some who make the grade, who dig in and fight to keep climbing on up there to the big leagues where the sun shines brighter and the cheers and rewards are greater.

So it's a great thing to see a kid like Radcliffe come from a small town and have his try in a game where many are called but few are chosen.

You never can tell . . . and that's why it's a story that tugs at your heart and warms it and makes you wish for him to go on and have his name in the big type, with the radio announcers talking shrilly into their microphones about him and the newsboys calling out the sports extra which tells about him . . . you never can tell.

Modesty Georgia is a modest State, and Atlanta is a shy city, never given to sounding brass and tinkling cymbals. Other cities may cry from the rooftops, but not Atlanta, the Empire City of the South, gateway to the great Southwest, transportation center to the whole great South.

Shy, modest and not given to vain boasting, it is just possible you never heard how a gal kid, called Louise Suggs, daughter of a left-handed pitcher (always lucky, the left-handers), who married the owner's daughter—has won the British amateur golf championship, the second American gal to win it.

You will never hear about a more courageous march than hers—tramping across those British sands and their tough grass with the winds blowing and the rains lashing—to wear down the best her own country, the British, the Irish and the Scots, could put against her.

Winds The British winds are winds. They blow from the continent. They pour in from the continent. They are born of sea storm and sea changes. They howl and sweep. They seem to die out, to come howling back like banshees at the top of a person's swing. They increase while a ball is in the air and they harry and tear at a golf ball in flight like the Furies struggling for a lost soul.

But she made it, whipping them all in two days of lashing rain and blustering, buffeting winds.

Atlanta recently has sent three persons over there to have a try—Bobby Jones, Charley Yates and Louise Suggs, and they all came back with it.

One of these days I wish Atlanta would get around to mentioning it—seeing as how no other town has ever done such a thing . . . but you know how we are in Atlanta—overly modest and quiet, never blowing our own horn. It's a pity, too, looking at the story of the Suggs girl and another British championship won the hard way.

Arkwright Memorial Corner Stone Laying

Most Atlantans remember the late Preston Arkwright as head man of the Georgia Power Company. So he is remembered, too, by transportation and power folks all over the country.

There was, however, another side to Mr. Arkwright's personality which, perhaps, was as important and, to him in person, may well have ranked first. That was his interest in the Salvation Army. For many years he was president of the Atlanta Advisory Board to the Salvation Army and he was always ready, nay anxious, to aid it in any way possible, by advice, by gifts or by sheer inspiration.

One of the most inspiring events in Atlanta is the graduation of the class of cadets at the Salvation Army Southern Training College here. I attended many such events and, to my mind, Preston Arkwright presiding at the speaker's table at the banquet was a fixture. Too, whenever an international leader of the Salvation Army came to Atlanta, it was always the charming Arkwright voice which presented the distinguished visitor to the Atlanta audience.

Corner-Stone Laying That is why I was particularly interested to learn that today, as part of the exercises coincident with the graduation and commissioning of the "King's Messengers" class at the College, they will lay the cornerstone of and dedicate the Arkwright Memorial Building there.

After Mr. Arkwright's death a number of his friends got together and created a fund to be used in the erection of a suitable monument, or memorial, to him.

Being friends who knew him well and who appreciated his character fully, they realized that he would much prefer that his name be associated with a memorial that would forever serve, rather than be found merely on some statue or monolith.

So, remembering how close the Salvation Army was to his heart, it was decided that a new and sorely needed dormitory building at the Training College would be the finest possible kind of Arkwright memorial. It is that building's cornerstone to be laid today.

Chairman for the exercises will be William E. Mitchell, who succeeded Mr. Arkwright as president of the Atlanta Advisory Board. Mr. Mitchell will speak. Lt. Commissioner Albert E. Chesham, territorial commander, will also speak and lay the cornerstone.

The Commissioning The dedication exercises of the "King's Messengers" class will be at the Wesley Memorial Church, with the program commencing at 10:30 this morning. The final program, with the commissioning and assignment of territory to the new officers, will be held at 8:30 tonight.

ALTAR STAIRS — By John Marvin Rast

Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things.—Philippians 4:8.

We often speak of our poor memories and again of how long we have remembered certain incidents. Really, though, it is not how much or how little we remember and for how long, but what it is that we recall. This gives the clue to our characters. We are what we think, and we cannot separate what we have thought from what we think at any given moment. Hence the urgency to selective memory. We can cultivate our thoughts as truly as we can cultivate flowers, weeding out the unwholesome.

Holy Father, teach us to crowd out the sordid and the unsightly from our minds. Come, fill our horizon with all that uplifts and liberates, through Christ our Lord.

Here's a Bargain in Blondes

An East Point lady, reading my column about the New York divorcee who offered to marry any man who'd pay her $10,000, writes that she is available for $5,000.

"You'd better shop around a little, gents.

"I am a blonde, blue eyes, five feet, weigh 110," she writes. "Maybe you can help me. I want a husband with some cash, consider from $5,000 to a higher sum."

No reasonable offer refused?

She ought to attract a number of prospective customers, especially from among those who believe in trading at home.

This young lady has only one child, whereas the New York one has two. Not only is the down payment lower, but also the upkeep.

I know loving costs are cheaper in the South, of course, but who thought to see such a mark-down in blondes, especially right here at the beginning of the season?

THE PULSE OF THE PUBLIC

The Constitution welcomes letters on either side of any subject. They should not exceed 200 words and must be signed, although names will be withheld on request. We regret none can be returned. Address all letters to Editor Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

'Immeasurable Influence'

Editor Constitution: Certainly the proposal to have installed permanently chimes in some central section of the city to be played at approved periods each day will strike a responsive chord in the majority of Atlantans. To have the bell-toned and resonant notes float out over our great city regularly would have immeasurable influence for good both to its residents and to those who are in our city temporarily. There would be soul-tingling experiences to many who actually need a lift in their spiritual lives but who have not found time to go to church on Sundays to hear the hymns which were familiar to them in their youth.

I do not know of any metropolis which has hymns played on the chimes regularly, but Atlanta could take the lead in this as she has in so many other undertakings not of a religious nature. Think of the impression it would make on visitors who come here from all over the country! Who knows but what it may be the beginning of a chain of great cities joining in such a project and maybe some day little notes popping out like stars on a clear Winter night will fall upon the ears of delegates in a United Nations assembly and change the course of the history of the world?

Private Help for Greece

Editor Constitution: During the months that I have been serving in Greece as Director of the United State Information Service, I have had ample opportunity to observe at close range the work of the American voluntary agencies. During the many years that they have been established in the country, they have in the best sense become an integral part of the nation's life. They understand its peculiar problems. As a result of years of experience in helping the Greeks to help themselves, they have developed an understanding and sympathy, and in return have received a loyalty that cannot otherwise be duplicated.

At the same time we at the Embassy have felt, together with the agencies, an increasing concern about the diminishing funds coming from America for their work. This fact has also concerned the chief of the American Mission for Aid to Greece, so much so, that when it was brought to his attention, Mr. Griswold not only gave his full indorsement to the programs carried out by these agencies, but urged the need for far greater continued support to them.

The road to recovery in Greece will be a long and difficult one. Its needs are not only for those things which money can buy but even more for the skilled personalized services which many of these agencies have rendered for a quarter of a century. Giving in the sense is as old as our republic. To continue to give would certainly be to uphold one of our proudest traditions.

The organizations to which I make reference are the following: American Farm School, American Joint Distribution Committee, American Near East Foundation, American School of Classical Studies and Gennadius Library, Anatolia College, Athens College, Congregational Christian Service Committee, CARE (Co-operative for American Remittances to Europe), Council of Jewish Women, Greek War Relief Association, Pierce College, Rockefeller Foundation, Save the Children Federation, Young Men's Christian Association, Young Women's Christian Association, World Student Service Fund.

Would suggest they both write a book entitled "What the People Don't Want."

Good Samaritan

Editor Constitution: Ever run out of gas? Seriously. We did last night. Those who say that neighborliness, friendliness are dead are in for a surprise, for we discovered that people of East Atlanta were quick to make our problem their problem. A man I'd never met before offered to take me to the nearest gas station for gas, which he did. After returning to the car he thoughtfully inquired if there were anything else he could do before leaving. As he was with his wife and young son, this was especially generous of him. Assured that we could make it OK, he left.

Well, the car still wouldn't start, for all the gas was out of the gas line and carburetor. Another motorist immediately offered his help; passersby helped get the vehicle out in the road so the second Good Samaritan could give us a push. Even though we were successfully on our way a bit later he followed for three blocks to make sure we'd have no further trouble.

More Behind It?

Editor Constitution: After reading in the paper that a judge, drawing $9,000 per year salary, had announced as a candidate for County Commissioner at a salary of $300 per month, I would not be surprised to learn that M. E. Thompson would run for Mayor of Valdosta, or that Herman Talmadge would be a candidate for Coroner at Lovejoy.

I do not know personally the judge or the commissioner, but if I were a betting man I would wager that there is more behind such an unusual move than a mere personal grudge between the two. I don't believe the public is interested in acting as referee in a personal fight, anyway.

Truman Is Using His New Stunt

ABOARD PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S SPECIAL TRAIN—Politics is big business these days. It is also show business. Like big business, which is also show business, politics uses all the modern paraphernalia of publicity, advertising and special stunts to attract the customers. We have here, on this special train of 16 cars, a man who apparently needs customers. Harry Truman is on the road with his show to try to pick some up. He has one stunt. He's had it a long time. This is his talent for the short, friendly, folksy impromptu speech, nicely spiced with humor, which brings out the innate sincerity of the man who now ocupies the biggest job in the world. He is using that stunt on this trip.

As is so often the case, his White House entourage had to be told by somebody else how good the stunt is. The hidden talent, the miracle they had overlooked, was revealed to them suddenly one night at a banquet of the American Society of Newspaper Editors in Washington a few weeks back.

The President read a long, prepared speech about inflation—which was sound enough but hardly sparkling. The assembled editors were thrown into a doze on about the second or third price curve. The President's voice in such readings does have a peculiar soporific quality. When he had finished, his listeners bestirred themselves and gave him the appropriate polite applause that editors use for each other's speeches.

Then he tossed aside his prepared address with evident relief, as if to say, "Now, thank heaven, that's over," and began to talk to the editors informally and casually, but right straight from the shoulder.

He talked about many current problems, among them national defense. Here his audience quickly recognized that he spoke with authority—he had become an expert from his long experience as Chairman of the Senate committee that had probed relentlessly into every angle of national defense. He talked also about foreign affairs generally, and about Russia—all in an informative and appealingly frank and simple manner. He talked, too, about his earnest desire for peace in the world and how anxious he is to achieve it, and here his deep hopes became very apparent.

When he finished this time, the editors literally leaped to their feet to give him a rousing ovation. He had entralled them with his second speech, though it hardly could be called a speech in the usual sense. Why, they asked each other, does he not talk to the people this way? Some expressed the opinion that, if he would get out over the country and talk to the people that way, there possibly might be a different result in November than generally anticipated. It was quite an interesting spectacle to watch that night.

Fortunately, some of the White House entourage were there to see, too. Here was what they had been looking for—and it was right under their noses all the time. Thus was created the "new Truman," the direct, sincere man talking directly and sincerely to fellow citizens, taking them into partnership, as it were.

He had a "tryout" at a few local occasions in Washington and the experiment was so successful that the show is now on the road, with the President talking from the back platform as his train moves toward the West and the Pacific Coast. Sandwiched among numerous such appearances are five scheduled major speeches for discussion of basic policies. So the ghost writers are getting enough exercise to keep their brain muscles in trim.

Much depends on this traveling show, for it represents a desperate attempt to revive the President's flagging fortunes. How important it is regarded may be seen from the fact that there are over four carloads of chroniclers—newspapers reporters, photographers, radio men—60 altogether, along to record it.

The President lives in his own private car, the one used for years by Presidents. There also is a work car for the large staff which must necessarily accompany him, for the White House is now on wheels. In front of this is a parlor car to receive visitors. And, despite the advertised "nonpolitical" nature of this trip, there will be quite a few who will be recognized as "politicians" as they get on and off the train from time to time. At the front of the train, next to the engine, is a special communications car for constant and immediate telephone and radio connection with Washington.

Politics is big business these days.

STEWART ALSOP

Trouble In July?

Pat Livingston, the Inquiring Photographer, is on vacation.

This is a moment of relaxation of tension in Europe, such as Europe and the world briefly enjoyed in January and February. The question is whether this present slackening of tension will end as the last one did, in something comparable to the Czech crisis and the threat to Scandinavia. That question is likely to be answered here, in this grim city, from which the Soviets desire to expel the Western powers.

July is most often mentioned here as the time of decision, when all the preliminary Soviet pushing and pressuring will mount to some sort of climax. If the Soviets decide to go the whole hog, they are expected to cut the food, fuel and power supply lines of the Western sectors of Berlin, which run through their zone. It is unthinkable for the British, French and Americans to remain here without providing the means of life for the hundreds of thousands of Germans in their sectors of the city. Therefore, if the Russians go the whole hog, the Western powers will have no choice except to get out, or to force the Soviets to restore the supply lines to operation.

NO ONE is certain of Soviet intentions, but the worst is considered quite likely to happen (as it so often tends to do). Thus the wisest choice to make in the circumstances outlined above is a topic of almost feverish discussion at all levels of the Western command, from Gen. Lucius D. Clay and Sir Brian Robertson downward. No policy has yet been adopted in advance; nor can it be, until directives are secured from London, Paris and Washington, since this is a matter involving peace or war. But it is possible to say at least that if the Soviets end by deciding to go all the way, the Western powers will respond with very great firmness.

The responses, considered broadly, fall into two classes. The first, which finds more advocates among the French and British than among the Americans, may be called the response by all measures short of war. Those who advocate this course are chiefly influenced by the total military unreadiness of Western Europe.

If this course is chosen, the Western powers will leave Berlin if their supply lines are cut, pointing out to the Germans meanwhile that the Soviets are using German misery as an instrument of policy. Simultaneously, the Soviet Union will be forced out of the United Nations for flagrant breach of treaties and international agreements. Diplomatic connections between the Soviets and the West will be largely severed. Soviet and satellite ships will be denied the use of Western ports. Over-all, the Soviet Union and sphere will be put in Coventry, while a constant, vigilant guard is posted all around it.

Yet even those who advocate this course (in itself not exactly pacific) admit that evacuation of Berlin would be a catastrophic defeat for the West. With Berlin, the traditional capital of Germany, in their hands, the Soviets wouldd have the ideal set-up for their campaign to win Germany by plugging revived German nationalism. The old maxim is much quoted here: "Lose Berlin, and you lose Germany; lose Germany and you lose Europe; lose Europe and you lose the world."

QUITE ASIDE from power politics, there is also the future of the hundreds of thousands of anti-Communist Berliners to consider. They have shown courage. They have relied on Western promises to remain in Berlin. Evacuation of Berlin would instantly result in thousands of the bravest of them being stood up against the nearest wall and shot. Permitting friends to be made examples of in this manner, besides being morally indefensible, has an unfortunately discouraging effect on friends elsewhere.

Therefore, many of those who canvass the problem here in Berlin strongly favor something bolder than mere condemnation of the Soviet Union to a sort of international Coventry. This bolder course could take two forms. Paratroopers could be dispatched to reopen the supply lines; trucks could be sent along the Autobahn to Berlin with armed guards on board, ready to fire. The Soviets could then choose between shooting or backing down with public humiliation.

Or more cannily, the Western powers can dispatch an ultimatum to Moscow, threatening the use of force to reopen the supply lines unless the Soviets have reversed themselves by a specified date. The objection to the first plan is that it will make it hard for the Soviets to back down; the objection to the second is that an ultimatum which may prove to be a bluff is always the height of unwisdom. And while the British and Americans might well join in such an ultimatum, it seems probable that the French would hold back.

Taking the situation overall, one must not exaggerate the danger—the Soviets may not, after all, go the whole hog, despite present indications. On the other hand, one is forced to the conclusion that this is a time for immediate resort to what Winston Churchill has called "the processes of diplomacy with all their secrecy and gravity." It is stomach-turning that there should be a risk of catastrophe here. But there is a risk. And diplomacy is needed, both to assure complete unity of action among the Western powers and to make certain that the Soviets do not blunder ahead simply because they have underestimated the probable cost.

The Milk Board's Disservice

We have refrained from taking any stand regarding the controversy which has developed over the price of milk in Atlanta in the hope that the State Milk Control Board would be able to set up a price structure which would be fair to all concerned from producer to consumer.

However, the Board seems to have proven that it is unable to meet the situation, and we have decided to express our opinions on the subject.

Milk is classified as a necessity and, as such, comes under governmental supervision everywhere, at least insofar as standards of health are concerned. In only a few States, of which Georgia is one, is there any agency of government to control the price of milk.

The State Milk Control Board was set up by the Georgia Legislature in 1937 for the purpose of encouraging the dairy industry in the State. In order to do this the Act provided that the Board could set the minimum price a producer or distributor could receive for his milk. No maximum price is set, in the belief that keen competition within and from without the State will suffice to hold down the cost of fluid milk.

We do not attempt to evaluate the benefit the Board has meant to the dairy industry of Georgia. It may have been great or small. However, during the past few months we do believe that the Milk Control Board has taken certain actions which have been most detrimental to workers of this State and their families.

THE FIRST of these actions has been the refusal of the Board to allow a two-cent cash-and-carry differential per quart of milk.

We fail to see why the Board refuses to permit a price cut. Almost any product can be bought cheaper if the purchaser is willing to pay cash and lug it home himself. Such a system is an advantage to the seller and, consequently, he offers a price reduction as an inducement.

Two cents per quart saving on milk does not mean much to the man in the higher income bracket, but to a majority of Georgians this two cents will run into a considerable saving over a year's period and means something to them. The lack of such a saving can mean that many children will not get all the milk to drink which growing boys and girls need.

In refusing to permit this cash-and-carry differential the Milk Board has definitely rendered a disservice to labor in Georgia.

ALSO, the Board in its latest order now refuses to permit milk to be sold from any store at wholesale prices. Previously, the housewife could buy milk in eight or 12-quart lots and effect a considerable saving. But, no more, under th edict of a dictatorial board which seems to put the welfare of the distributor above that of both producer and consumer.

We sincerely hope that the Milk Board will soon take steps to correct the injustices it is perpetrating on the workers of this State. If they do not do so, then they most probably will find labor lined up solidly to work for the abolishment of the Board at the next session of the General Assembly.

A Few Remarks for the Record

AS TO ANY NEW parleys with Russia, many are saying, why bother? Give the Red chums more rope, they point out, and he hogties another neighbor.

A NATIONAL weekly famed for fresh slants and newly discovered truths comes up with a piece entitled "Political Platforms Are the Bunk"—a nice change of pace.

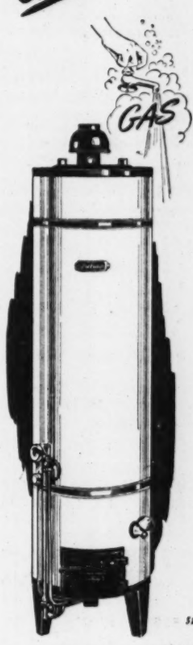

TO CIRCUMVENT the recording ban, a crooner sings while other crooners hum the accompaniment. And if Petrillo really dislikes music, as some suspect, he'll love it.

A CONGRESSIONAL leader withdraws the word "sap" as applied to his colleagues—and well he might, as there's nothing handier at times than the votes of a few dozen of these unattractive characters.

A BLUE TOMATO, latest triumph of the experimenters, can never take the place of the well-aimed, slightly spoiled red ponderosa as a campaign argument.

When a Nimble Brain Saves the Show

An actor's brain, to coin a seamy simile, is like a midget racing car. It may be small, but it moves plenty fast. Example coming up: Back in the '20s, W. C. Fields appeared in an "Earl Carroll's Vanities." One of the great man's comic sketches took place in a dentist's office. On opening night, the prop walls began to topple. Fields braced them with his back and ad libbed: "They don't build houses these days the way they used to." This crack got a big laugh from the audience, and the falling-wall bit was kept in for the rest of the run.

Have another: Towards the end of his capers ous career, John Barrymore got mixed up with a sad little farce. One night there weren't more than a dozen spectators out front. Irritated by John's shenanigans, they began to boo. Barrymore stepped to the footlights and said "You'd better not start anything. Remember—we outnumber you."

And still another: Mascagni, composer of "Cavalleria Rusticana," once heard an organ-grinder cranking tinny excerpts from the opera outside his window. Annoyed by the draggy tempo, the composer rushed out and said, "Here, let me show you how it should be played." He gave the handle a few quick turns and went back into the house.

Next day the organ-grinder again appeared beneath the composer's window. On his hurdy-gurdy was a neatly lettered sign: "Pupil of Mascagni."

But my favorite nimble-wit story is only a couple of weeks old. For several months now a network has been telecasting a puppet show called "Howdy Doody." It's probably the first real smash the new medium has come up with. Bob Smith, the fellow who MCs the show and supplies Howdy's voice, recently announced that the little blockhead was going to run for President. Overnight, 60,000 kids wrote in for free buttons and indorsed the platform which promised free lollypops and three Saturdays a week.

In the middle of Howdy's campaign, the studio roof fell in. Frank Paris, the gent who pulled the strings, demanded a salary raise and claimed that the doll and its name belonged to him. The network admitted it was Frankie's puppet, but said it owned the copyright to the Howdy Doody monicker. While the contestants were exchanging frowns and legal papers, Bob Smith did some fast figuring.

At 5 o'clock that afternoon a map of the United States was flashed on the television screen and Bob announced that Howdy was flying to Portland, Ore., to take part in the primaries there. For the next hour, kids in six cities chuckled as Howdy reported his progress over the plane's short wave radio. That took care of the Thursday show.

By Saturday, Frank Paris had decided to move his puppet to an opposition network. That afternoon, Howdy called in from Portland to tell Bob Smith that he was worried about his campaign. He had finally come face to face with his rival for office, a Mr. X, and discovered him to be the handsomest man in the world. As a desperate bid for the female vote, Howdy said he was going to have his face overhauled by a plastic surgeon so he, too, would be handsome.

Came Tuesday, and Howdy kept radioing that he was on his way back. The operation had been a success, but his face would have to remain bandaged for two weeks—doctor's orders. Just before the fadeout, Howdy came crashing through the roof of the RCA Building and the telecast ended with the puppet dangling from the ceiling by his parachute.

Since which time the original sponsor has been advertising "the old voice, the new look." When I saw Howdy's show the other day, he was still wearing his bandages, and the kids who were watching it with me were anxiously waiting to see his new face.

Who am I going to vote for this November? Well, judging by the names they're throwing around, it might easily be fast-thinking Howdy Doody.

WESTBROOK PEGLER

That's What We Got for Vice President!

WASHINGTON—You might think that I had some personal motive in calling Henry Wallace to account, but it will one day be established that I am performing a public service in revealing this clown's true character. So far he has managed to duck the question whether he did or did not write the idiotic Guru letters to Prof. Nicholas Roerich. If we could get him under oath we would have him dead to rights because, waiving the question of these particular letters, I would confront him with proof that he once did admit that he wrote Roerich a great many personal letters in longhand which went through the forwarding office at the New York lamasery of the weird Oriental cult and wrote one to Roerich's wife, who was known as "Mother" in the cult, which would make him appear "very foolish." He said he could not remember just what he did write in that letter to "Mother" but did know that he had put on paper some "idiotic things." Those were his own words in discussing it. Boy, I'll say he did.

Now whether Wallace was fool enough to have been completely taken in by Roerich's theatrical manner, or was himself guilty of promoting a crazy scheme to create a new nation of Siberia with Roerich as "head" of the State in a politico-spiritual role, we have to take our choice. The evidence which I have seen and which Henry knows I have seen, shows that he was no more to be trusted with great public responsibility than a village idiot. That is why I say it was a shocking betrayal of the interests of the American people by Franklin B. Roosevelt to make this awful bubblehead Vice President from 1940 to 1944. That was an outrage that the United States should never forgive Roosevelt.

It is useless to say that he didn't know the truth about Wallace. Those people were spying on one another all the time and the State Department was fairly hissing with the story of Wallace's grass-seed mission to Asia under Roerich's command. Yet, Wallace was such a sap, and that kind of gullibility is incurable, that he may not have realized the meaning of Roerich's glib recognition of the Japanese conquest of Manchuria when our government was lambasting the Japs for unprovoked aggression and following a political and diplomatic line that led straight to Pearl Harbor.

Of course Wallace will not be elected President, but his juvenile credulity then is useful as an explanation of his present willingness to go to the country as Stalin's candidate for President.

He may doggedly refuse to discuss the goofy Guru letters, but I will surround him with so much other evidence that he will never be able to break out.

A great heap of letters from Roerich to the headquarters of his cult in New York shows beyond question that he was having the time of his life at the expense of the Department of Agriculture and, ultimately, of the American taxpayers in the Summer of 1934 and Winter of 1935. He was wined and dined by Japs and other Orientals who were baffled by his status as emissary of the Secretary of Agriculture when our State Department wouldn't even give him a letter to whom it may concern.

Dr. Stanley K. Hornbeck, the Chief of the Far Eastern Division of the State Department, had warned Bubblehead not to send Roerich to China on any mission under any circumstances. Henry replied that he knew Roerich personally, that the Guru was his friend, and that he needed no advice from anyone. Afterward, Wallace said he regarded Roerich as his own superior in the cultish layout. He was Roerich's boss in the Department of Agriculture, but the Guru's peace outfit outranked the D. of A. in Henry's rating.

Wallace even sent to Roerich's secretary at the Joss-House copies of letters from Macmillan telling of Roerich's activities. Roerich then needled Wallace with arrogant squawks about the two Americans whose only fault was that they were acting the part of good Americans under the authority of a fantastic slob in the Department of Agriculture. Henry believed Roerich and threw down his own men.

He is a sly and slippery one with his drooling grin and that Hitlerian bang. He knew he was doing wrong, but just didn't want the State Department to know.

That was what Roosevelt knowingly gave us for Vice President from 1940 to 1944 in time of the wildest war in the dismal history of mankind. Fellow Wallace is what he is. You can hate him or feel sorry for him, but he can't help being a bubblehead. But Roosevelt knew Henry and he knew all about this daffy affair and Henry's silly infatuation for the Guru. And still, in a matter of seconds, in a phone conversation from the White House to Madam Frances Perkins at the Chicago convention, he said, "Yes, I guess it will be Wallace" for Vice President and for four years we were threatened with this rattle-brain the instant anything happened to the great conman himself.

What the hell was the matter with our people, anyhow? How did we ever let ourselves get talked into this crazy fix?

Sports Must Keep On Alert Constantly

Baseball is the latest to be added to the lengthening list of sports connected with gambling scandals since the end of the war.

First it was college basketball. Then pro football and hockey and boxing were connected with various "fixes" and betting coups.

Of the entire list, it is significant that the fight racket has been mentioned in more instances, yet this sport has done the least to punish the offenders and prevent recurrences.

True, Rocky Graziano was barred from fighting in certain localities where the New York State Boxing Commission reigns. But just how much this has hurt him may be seen by the fact he is fighting Tony Zale next Wednesday night in Newark and will collect in the vicinity of $100,000 for his efforts, which is as much as he ever made working for Mike Jacobs in Madison Square Garden.

In other cases, punishment for offenders has been equally as ineffective. Occasionally a fighter is suspended for 30 or 60 days, a period in which he had no fights scheduled anyway, but more often charges are "investigated" and everybody cleared because of "lack of evidence" or some such excuse.

The Limit The Brooklyn College basketball players were dismissed from school. Those guilty in pro football were barred for life. So were the culprits in the hockey case. And now Mr. George Trautman, the minor league czar, has slapped the limit on Barney DeForge and Ed Weingartner for their part in a betting coup in a North Carolina league.

Other sports could well follow the example of Trautman. He moved swiftly in his investigation and barred all principals under his jurisdiction from the game for life.

Of course, that hardly is enough punishment. But it was all Trautman could dish out.

It is gratifying to note that local gendarmes moved in where he left off and all involved are at present under bond, awaiting trial under State law.

Laws The biggest obstacle in dishing out punishment for those guilty of fixing sports events has been a startling lack of laws to cope with the situations.

But considerable improvement has been noted in recent months and most States now have suitable legislation either passed or pending.

Even boxing has taken steps in the right direction. Several State Boxing Commissions have been reorganized and new regulations passed, not only to prevent gambling coups, but also to prevent physically unfit fighters from entering the ring.

In fact, Illinois recently barred some 25 men from ever fighting again in that State.

But it remains a fact that recent action has only scratched the surface and until an aroused sports public demands changes of their athletic officials, many events will go along doing business in the same old unsavory way.

Untainted It's good that so much notice is being taken of all these irregularities.

The best way to cope with them, of course, is to bring them out in the open and then make punishment of offenders severe enough to deter any future would-be culprit.

So far, fixes haven't been connected with college football, the last of the big-money spectator sports unaffected. But it could happen any time.

Actually, there is little difference in football as played in the colleges and on the professional gridirons, as far as personnel is concerned. If anything, the college kids may be even more susceptible to bribery attempts than the pros because of their youth.

On the other hand, a college coach exercises a lot more control over the off-field life of his players and, consequently, it isn't as easy for a "fixer" to approach the boys.

Anyway, eternal vigilance on the part of sports writers, players and coaches is the only answer to keeping the college football on its present enviable level.

Indians Beat A's Twice To Gain 2½ Game Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The front-running Cleveland Indians tagged the skidding Philadelphia Athletics with a pair of defeats Sunday, 5-3 and 11-1, at Philadelphia, to open up a two and a half game lead in the American League flag chase. A season record crowd of 37,900 watched Bob Lemon, the majors' top winner, annex his eighth victory of the year in the opener.

The Indians' war clubs banged out 16 hits off Dick Fowler and Bob Savage in the nightcap with Joe Tipton, Dale Mitchell and Kenny Keltner leading the assault.

Tipton smacked out five hits, including two doubles, in five trips to the plate. This stretched the rookie catcher's consecutive hitting streak to eight straight safeties.

Mitchell went "4 for 6" and knocked in five runs. Keltner's three safeties included his 14th home run of the year. Eddie Robinson also clouted a four-bagger in the second game massacre.

Vic Raschi gained his seventh straight victory and second consecutive shutout when he pitched the Yankees to a 3-0 triumph over the St. Louis Browns in the second game of a doubleheader at New York. The Yanks also won the first game, 4-3, with Bobby Brown singling home the winning run in the ninth. Steve Souchock and Johnny Lindell homered for the Yanks in the opener while Gerry Priddy led the Brownie attack with a four-bagger, triple and single.

The double triumph enabled the Yankees to climb within a half game of the second place Athletics. On the other hand, the Browns, in losing their fifth and sixth straight, dropped into seventh place.

Raschi gave up only three hits and did not allow a runner to reach second base.

Playing more like the experts forecast before the start of the season Boston's Red Sox swept a double-header from the Detroit Tigers, 5-4 and 12-4, at Boston, vaulting from seventh place to a tie for fourth place in the American League.

It was the second consecutive double triumph of the year for the Bostonians whose Ted Williams, Stan Spence and Vern Stephens homered in succession in the sixth inning of the second game to equal a record.

Chicago's cellar-shackled White Sox dealt the Washington Senators two defeats at Washington before a crowd of 15,772. The White Sox smashed out a 10-4 victory in the opener, then coasted to an 11-4 win in the second game.

BOTH TEAMS BLOW BIG LEADS

Atlanta Splits With Chicks

By F. M. WILLIAMS
Constitution Sports Writer.

RUSSWOOD PARK, MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 6—After making one of the most remarkable comebacks of the season to win the opening game of a double-header, 11 to 9, the Atlanta Crackers did the most disgusting fold-up act in history to lose the second to the Memphis Chicks here Sunday afternoon, 7 to 6.

The Crackers trailed 9 to 0 after the first two innings of the first game, but rallied for five runs in the fourth and five more in the seventh to take the lead, which Mason Leeper, Ken Deal and Bill Kennedy all were called upon to protect after the Chicks had shelled Shelby Kinney in the first inning.

Tom Neill put the Crackers out front in the second game with a three-run homer in the third and when three more men crossed the plate it looked like Carl Lindquist could coast to an easy victory.

Lindquist had balked in a run in the first inning, but had a 6-1 lead on four hits going into the seventh. He got the first two batters and then went completely to pieces. Before the firing was over six Chicks had crossed the plate.

Glenn Stewart started it with a single and then Roy Bueschen, batting for Catcher Burl Storie, walked. Joe Astroth pinch hit for Roman Brunswick and singled to score Stewart. Fred Hancock hit a tremendous triple against the center field fence for two more runs and Gordon Goldsberry tied it up with a homer over the right field fence.

Kinney came in and was tapped for a double by Paul Armstrong and Kennedy relieved Kinney. He walked Jerry Scala, gave up a single to Grover Bowers and the winning run came home. Kinney, who had thrown just three pitches, was the loser and Brunswick, who relieved Billy Briggs in the fifth, was the winner.

It is the eighth game this year the Crackers have lost in the last inning but it's the first time they've wasted that big a lead in the final frame.

The first game was one for the books. The Chicks popped on Kinney and Leeper for seven runs in the first frame and then got to Leeper for two more in the second.

Then the kid left-hander settled down and was going great guns when he slammed his glove to the ground in protest of Umpire Malesky's decision on one of his piches. Malesky chased Leeper and Ken Deal came along to pitch the next inning and two-thirds, getting credit for the victory.

Kennedy, making his first appearance since breaking his toe over two weeks ago, hurled brilliantly in the last three frames, giving up only one hit.

The Crackers took advantage of five Chick errors, most of them in the clutch, to win, although they touched Hugh Mulcahy, Alex Danelishen and Joe Perkovich for 14 hits, 10 of them in the two big innings.

Norman Brown is scheduled to pitch the third game of the series for the Crackers Monday night, with Chuck Eisenmann the probable Memphis choice.

Atlantan Wins Race

COLUMBIA, S. C., June 5—(AP) Ed Samples, of Atlanta, won the 40-lap feature stock car racing event at the Columbia Speedway track Sunday.

Sunday In The Southern

Little Rock moved out of the cellar by beating Birmingham twice and New Orleans slipped in by splitting with Chattanooga. It was the Pebs' first double victory of the season and their first three-game winning streak. The Baron infield combination of Hoderlein to Lyons to Dropo clicked off four double plays in the opener.

It Was Larry Drake Day at Engel Stadium Sunday and the lanky Lookout centerfielder, honored for hitting in 37 straight games, took it seriously and made it his day. He hit a homer in each game . . . In the opener Johnny Rizzo lined a homer over the scoreboard in left field. It was the second ball ever hit over the 35-foot-high sign, 375 feet from the plate. Dave Harris, now an Atlanta policeman, hit one over it in 1932, the second day the big board was in use.

By Splitting with the Bears, the Vols maintained their five-game lead . . . In the opener Walt Sessi hit a homer with the bases loaded in the third inning, then in the fourth inning Bill Hart hit another homer with the bases loaded . . . The defeat was Leo Twardy's second against eight wins . . . In the first game George Shuba, the league's leading hitter, got six straight hits to tie a league record . . . Sessi also got a homer in the second game.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

160,000 Japs See Game

It usually makes the headlines when 70,000 attend a game at Yankee Stadium or Municipal Stadium in Cleveland, but in Japan a crowd like that is only a handful. Sunday 160,000 fans turned out to see a baseball game and it was between two college teams, at that.

Only about half of the 160,000 could get in the stadium; many of the rest swarmed over adjacent buildings and even climbed the light towers in spite of police attempts to shoo them away.

Twenty Japanese were injured by the jostling throng.

Incidentally, Waseda University defeated Keio University, 12-10.

The four home runs the Cards hit in one inning in Sunday's first game is one short of the record. The Giants banged five against Cincinnati exactly nine years ago Sunday.

After seeing Joe Louis work out Sunday, Beau Jack predicted the champion would kayo Jersey Joe Walcott in five rounds. A capacity crowd of 5,000 saw Louis box six rounds. A crowd of 600 saw Walcott go five rounds.

This will be a big sports week:

On Wednesday Rocky Graziano and Tony Zale will meet for the third time for the middleweight title. Promoters predict a $400,000 gate; fight experts think $250,000 is a closer guess.

On Thursday the U. S. Open Golf Championships start at the Riveria Golf Club in Los Angeles.

On Friday the Wightman Cup tennis matches between the U. S. and Great Britain will start at Wimbledon.

And on Saturday the $100,000 Belmont Stakes will be run. That's the one Citation must take to become a triple-crown winner.

Worst Pun of Year: With Chicago's acquisition of Pat Seerey from Cleveland, Whitney (AP) Martin ponders if the deal will make the Chisox a "Seereyus threat."

In 1927, when Babe Ruth hit 60, he got his seventeenth on June 5. As of June 5, Hank Sauer of the Reds had 16.

Red Byron beat two fellow Atlantans in the 30-lap stock car feature at Greensboro, N. C., Saturday night. Tim Flock was second and Fonty Flock was third.

Three Notre Dame football players underwent knee operations in Pittsburgh Saturday. They were Fullback Pep Panelli, Center Bill Vangen and Halfback Ernie Zalejski. All three operations were reported successful.

Grant Seeded 5th, Teagle 8th

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 6—(AP) Jack Tuero, New Orleans, La., last year's runnerup, was seeded first in the parings announced Sunday for the Sixty-third Annual Southern Tennis championships which start here Monday.

Second position went to Gardner Larned, national intercollegiate champion from Chicago.

Other seedings announced included (3) George Pero, Miami; (4) Buddy Behrens, national junior champion, Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; (5) Bitsy Grant, Atlanta; (6) Ricardo Balbiers, Rollins and Brazil; (7) Sam Daniels, Columbia, S. C.; and (8) Jack Teagle, Atlanta.

Cards Win Two, Take First Place

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Red Schoendienst led the way with five doubles and a home run in the two games as the St. Louis Cardinals swept a twin bill from the Philadelphia Phillies, 11-1 and 2-0, at St. Louis. The double victory put the Redbirds back on top of the National League as the New York Giants and Pittsburgh Pirates split their double-header.

The opening contest was marked by the Cardinals' big sixth inning when Erv Dusak, Schoendienst, Enos Slaughter and Nippy Jones hit home runs, together with a single by Del Rice and a walk to Stan Musial, all for six runs.

Jim Hearn mastered the Phils with just four hits in the first game.

Richie Ashburn, rookie Philadelphia outfielder, was held hitless in the first game, ending his string of consecutive games in which he hit safely at 23, believed to be a record for a first year man.

The Pirates put on another Frank Merriwell finish as Ralph Kiner homered in the ninth inning to break a 3-3 tie and give the Pirates a 4-3 victory over the New York Giants in the nightcap of their doubleheader at Pittsburgh. The Giants swamped the Pirates in the opener, 16-4.

Johnny Sain pitched and batted the Braves to a 1-0 victory over the Cubs at Chicago Sunday. The veteran right-hander blanked the Cubs on four hits and topped it off by singling to score Jim Russell with the lone run of the game.

Lefty Joe Hatten handcuffed Cincinnati with two hits as the Brooklyn Dodgers defeated the Reds 5-0 in a five-inning, rain-abbreviated first game of a scheduled twin bill at Cincinnati. The second game was postponed because of muddy grounds.

TALLY CONTINUES TORRID PACE

Tenney Has No-Hitter In Seven-Inning Game

James Tenney fashioned a seven inning no-hit, no-run game against McDonough Sunday afternoon as Haralson annexed its eighth straight victory in the Flint River League by a 19-0 margin.

Hoover Tally, who has attracted the attention of major league scouts with his sensational pitching, added 13 victims to his strike-out total as Tell inundated Fayetteville, 27-4, in another Flint River game.

Next Sunday Tenney and Tally will clash in what promises to be one of the best hurling duels of the Amateur Federation season when Haralson invades Tell. Haralson has an average of 20 runs per game in eight starts.

Sardis' Howard Turner held Dunwoody hitless for eight innings but allowed two safeties in the ninth as Sardis pounded out an 11-1 triumph in the North Atlanta League.

Candler Park continued its upward surge, defeating the Glenwood Aces, 9-4, on Bobby Jones' three-hit flinging.

$1,175,000 IN BOND ISSUES

Bond issues totaling $1,175,000 are being considered in Carroll County and Waycross. Carroll County citizens will vote on a $600,000 bond issue July 10 for hard-surfacing rural roads. Waycross City Clerk C. O. Parker announced Sunday that various civic groups have unanimously approved the proposed $575,000 bond issus for school and recreation projects.

BETTER PEACH CROP

Although Georgia's 1948 peach crop probably will amount to less than 4,000,000 bushels, the quality promises to be much better than last year, George H. Firor of the Extension Service, reported Sunday at Athens.

"CLEAN-UP" IN SOAP

The old trick of snitching a few towels and soap from your hotel doesn't work—when your hotel happens to be a jail.

Augusta police said a man listed as Jimmie L. Osgood served four months on a swindling charge. As he checked out, he was accused of attempting to steal 42 bars of soap, six teaspoons and eight towels from the jail.

He got two more months.

NEWS AND NOTES

The second Leadership Training Institute sponsored by the University of Georgia will be held on the Athens campus June 27-30. Miss Emily Woodward said the program is designed to give aid to all Georgians. . . . The Annual Dixie Regional Convention of the Fraternal Order of Eagles will be held in Macon June 26-27. . . . James H. Hart, 48, Postmaster at Ellaville for the past 14 years, died Sunday after a two-month illness.

DOCTOR IN DITHER

Dr. Guy Wells, President of Milledgeville's GSCW, tells a story on himself when he "really got in Gen. Lucious Clay's hair."

He had hardly alighted from the plane in Germany when he was rushed off and flooded with questions, "how did you get away—why were you arrested?"

Finally Dr. Wells picked up a German newspaper, pointed at a picture, and explained that he was Georgia's Dr. Wells—not the Dr. Wells reported arrested in Soviet territory.

2 Ex-Policemen Held In Separate States

Two former city policemen, one accused of grand larceny and the other with Atlanta "burglary ring" activities, were being held in separate jails Sunday.

John W Mashburn, discharged from the Atlanta police force approximately 10 years ago, was charged with grand larceny in Spartanburg, S. C., officials informed Atlanta police. Det. Supt. E. I. Hilderbrand ordered Spartanburg authorities to hold him also for jumping bond four months ago in DeKalb County. Mashburn failed to show up at his trial stemming from a lottery charge, Hilderbrand said.

G. M. Ellis, seized by Fulton County police Saturday for alleged connection with a burglary ring whose "take" ran into thousands of dollars, Sunday had been transferred to City Jail on a suspicion of burglary charge. He was being held without bond while officers questioned him on burglaries of tool houses, schools, a $2,000 stick-up of a Negro home, and in connection with theft of two cars.

Patrolmen said they recalled questioning Ellis on three previous occasions when he was seen near scenes of burglaries. He had usually blamed "car trouble" as a reason for being parked in the areas, police said.

An air compressor that police said was identified as stolen from a service station was found in Ellis' car at the time of his arrest. Officers recovered two truckloads of what they termed "loot" from Ellis' home at 1183 Cahaba Dr., S. W.

The raid resulted in Mrs. Ellis, along with Floyd Cummings, 37, of 33 Haygood St., S. W., listed as Ellis' brother-in-law; and Tom Gibby, 49, of 950 Fern Ave., S. W., being arrested on burglary charges. They were being held in Fulton Tower Sunday.

City Police Chief Herbert Jenkins said Ellis was discharged from the police force two years ago.

Ungar's Friends Consider Plans To Publish Poems

Friends of David Edward Ungar, Atlanta poet, who died last April 20, met Sunday afternoon and discussed the possibility of publishing a collected edition of his poems. The occasion was a memorial service in the auditorium of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce.

Ungar achieved a reputation for his series of poems on "Mr. Rabbit and Mrs. Mollie Hen." All of his poems were published privately and circulated among school children. During his latter years, Ungar was registrar at Central Night High School.

Speakers at the memorial service included Dr. H Reid Hunter, principal of Central High School; W. J Scott, principal of Bass High School; Dr. Willis A. Sutton, Superintendent Emeritus of the Atlanta Public School System; L. P. Witson and Ollie Reeves, Georgia's Poet Laureate.

LOWLY MUSTARD JAR DOES TURN AS OIL FOR TROUBLED WATERS

PALISADES, N. J., June 6—(UP)—A jar of mustard overcame political differences between two rival picnic groups Sunday.

No sooner had some 100 members of the Draft-MacArthur Club spread their lunches than 200 supporters of Harold Stassen, carrying banners, arrived with baskets in a near-by picnic grove.

When the Stassen group ran out of mustard for their hot dogs, several volunteers borrowed a jar from the MacArthur boosters. Within half an hour the groups merged and ate their picnics together.

Later, they left their respective placards stacked together, and paired off for a ride on the roller coaster at an amusement park.

County Recreation Program Outlined by Director

Declaring that "recreation is everybody's business," Harold Parker, Director of Fulton County's Recreation Program, announced that 39 communities in Fulton County now have supervised recreation programs.

"We have the finest staff of recreation leaders we have ever been able to assemble," Parker continued, "and the youngsters of Fulton County are in for a lot of real fun and enjoyment."

Each playground group will spend one day every week at North Fulton or Adams Park with free swimming. Transportation by school bus will be provided for outlying communities such as Roswell, Alpharetta Fairburn and Palmetto, he continued.

Baseball, softball, soccer, horse shoes ping pong paddle tennis, golf, tennis, picnics, cook-outs, week-end camping trips, 'teen canteens, hiking, nature study, painting, basket weaving, handicrafts, story-telling and swimming will be features of the county's overall recreation program, Parker added

Sandlot baseball is in full swing on Fulton County playgrounds with more than 2,000 boys under 18 participating. Softball on the county's 13 lighted softball diamonds is going strong, Parker said, with leagues for girls and adults as well as for boys.

AGNES SCOTT LOOK

Renovation Set For Inman Hall

Inman Hall, Agnes Scott dormitory for freshmen, will greet the class of 1952 next Fall with a new look.

The three-story brick structure, which has housed an estimated 3,500 Agnes Scott students since its completion in 1910, is undergoing a renovation which will cost more than the building itself did 38 years ago.

Seven contractors have begun work on installing new lighting, plumbing, flooring and sound-absorbent ceilings in the building. The inferior will be repainted, with bedrooms to be decorated in pastel tints if the requisite paint is available. Additional baths and the provision of a reception room in the senior resident's apartment are also planned.

Built at a cost of $50,000, Inman Hall was the gift of the late Samuel M. Inman, of Atlanta, and was named in honor of his first wife, Jennie D. Inman. Estimated cost of the renovation is $65,000. The work was financed in the last fund campaign of the college but delayed by the war.

2 Killed as Auto Collides With Tractor

NEWARK, N. J., June 6—(AP)—Two men died Sunday when two sedans, one towing a racing car, and a 10-ton tractor and trailer collided on Route 44, two miles north of Paulsboro.

The dead: F. Leroy Fleming, Jr., 18, Oldwick, and David Gulick, 25, a medical student of Temple University, in Philadelphia.

SEVERAL INJURED

Electrically Charged Pool Fatal To Young Swimmer

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 6—(AP)—A short circuit charged a public swimming pool with electricity Sunday, killing one swimmer and injuring several others.

Dr. Winfield Yarnell, Deputy Coroner, said a short circuit in an underground power line at the Gay-Way swimming pool caused the current to reach a steel ladder in the pool and charged the water in a 15-foot semi-circle around the ladder.

Dr. Yarnell identified the dead swimmer as Clyde Peters, of Harrisburg. He said the 12-year-old boy died of electric burns.

Peters and another swimmer, Rosemary Fritsch, 11, were within the charged area at the time of the short cricuit. Dr. Yarnell said both swimmers suddenly stiffened and sank beneath the water.

Other swimmers further away felt the shock, but were able to scramble from the pool. Two youths who watched Peters and the girl sink under the water, leaped in after them, but were instantly paralyzed and had to be helped from the pool.

One of the rescuers, Robert Foltz, told a reporter that when he jumped in the water, "I felt as though I was paralyzed from the waist down. I could hardly move my muscles."

He said he managed to help the Fritsch girl and Peters from the water, but, "When I grabbed the ladder to climb out myself, I couldn't move." Other swimmers hauled him to safety.

Peters and the girl were taken to the Polyclinic Hospital where the boy died. The girl was treated and released. She was not hurt seriously.

LET'S SEE NOW:

Grades Harsh Jabs at Children

By DORIS LOCKERMAN
Woman's News Editor

Sarah Lawrence College, which has always been a remarkable institution, has accomplished a point of education many parents have longed for.

Its students have no final exams, no grades, no required courses, no set textbooks, no faculty regulation of student conduct. The faculty is made up of men and women who are leaders in their field of study and they believe school life should not be separated from the world we live in. Because of that, New York City's slums, its factories, theaters, newspapers, clinics and corporations are part of a huge campus where Lawrence students may study the problems of mankind. They learn by doing.

This is all part of the theory that students will go out of their way to learn if they can be freed from educational restrictions, and that mental and emotional maturity can be developed only on freedom of selection and development of personality.

This may be debatable on the college level, of course, but it cannot be debated in the earlier years of education.

There is no excuse for grades in the primary sections of our schools. Many a first or second grader, trying his utmost, will stumble painfully on Bs or Cs while a whip-smart little quiz kid will float around trailing a halo and straight As. It is the first crushing evidence of mental inequality . . . and a sure factory for insecurity and resentment unless it is cautiously handled by teacher and parent alike.

When we perfect methods to get the most out of children by intriguing them into curiosity, before they can build up a callous defense against mediocrity, we will be on the road to progressive education.

Jiffy Hushpuppies

Now there is a hush-puppy mix. You simply add water to the contents of a hush-puppy box, roll the batter in walnut-size balls, toss them in hot cooking oil and there you are. Said to be very acceptable as dumplings with chicken or as hors d'oeuvres, to say nothing of the old-fashioned combination with a fish supper.

Atomic Tonics

Before long your pharmacist at the corner drug store may bend a quizzical eye to prescriptions that road "12 ozs. 'Bikini' Chain-Reaction Bath Salts . . . Release Slowly," or "Two Bars Fission Soap . . . Handle With Care."

You see, there is a new line of atomic tonics developed in Britain to be used in cases where patients need the healing properties of radioactive rays. They'll be used in face creams, bath salts, lipsticks and other preparations for medical and beautifying purposes.

Just think . . . radioactive kisses!

Seaweed Sox

Nothing is sacred to science. The newest encroachment on nature is the new formula that makes sheer "nylon" out of a form of seaweed that grows prolifically off Scotland. Ankles sheathed in seaweed will swell an already large list of items furnished by this harvest of the sea. Among them, you know, are cosmetics, transparent paper, films, salad cream, ice cream, baby foods, custard, jams, sauces, jellies, sugar substitute for diabetics, typewriter rollers, printing and marking inks, animal and poultry food and fertilizers.

Dr. Lillian Bell Weds Dr. Hinrichs

Dr. M. Lillian Bell of Decatur was married recently to Dr. William E. Hinrichs of Atlanta, in the Little Chapel of Glenn Memorial Church. The bride's nephew, Rev. Walter Logan, of Griffin, officiated in the presence of the immediate families.

Mrs. Hinrichs' sister, Miss Ida Bell, was the bride's only attendant and Dr. C. Fred Hinrichs was his brother's best man.

Dr. and Mrs. Hinrichs will reside at 2075 Ridgewood Drive, N. E., after June 10.

Uncle Remus Group To Give Benefit Bridge

Stole Guards Against Sun, Summer Breezes

By MAYNITA GERRY
Constitution Fashion Editor

Stoles are not new.

As articles of dress, they have recurred at pleasant intervals on the fashion scene for more years than any of us would care to recall. They have been worn, loved and cherished for a period, then passed over, for no good reason at all, in favor of something newer, but not by any means better.

STOLE THE SHORE—When the sun gets overamorous or there's a chill in the air, huddle yourself in a stole and let them fight it out among themselves. The one worn above by Betty Fine is of white terrycloth, trimmed in cushiony chenille balls and is equipped with big pockets for dark glasses, suntan oil and a comb, and will also give you something to do with your hands. It's at Davison's.

You welcomed them back again about a year ago with open arms as you'd greet an old and dear friend. You took them straight to your fashion-fickle heart, clasped them across it, literally, and wondered, now that you had been reminded of it, where they had been all these years.

The forerunners, you will recall, of the present stole influx appeared in the form of fringed over-sized, plaid or plain, wool scarves designed early last Fall to be worn with casual college clothes—and casually.

Next it was seen around on cloth coats, sometimes in a rectangular shape, at other times in the form of a huge enveloping collar . . . but still in a casual mood.

Then it went formal. It made the society columns when it appeared in mink—one notable type being the widely extolled minkerchief, and a small three-cornered affair that could be draped innumerable ways and be worn over anything from a lace ball gown to a tailored suit. Ermine took it up, quite lavishly, with yards and yards of tiny pelts going into one stole that would even, if the occasion warranted, be adequate as a knapsack.

Spring came and the stole stayed. It was made up in light fabrics to match the dresses and was purely ornamental. Or in featherweight woolens for warmth as well as ornamentation.

In some instances it was no more than a froth of net, maline or chiffon around the neck of decolletage evening dress. Again it was worn, Indian fashion, over a strapless beach ensemble. In any case, hardly a collection of clothes has appeared without at least one stole creation.

The newest addition we've seen to the stole family is a small triangle of white terrycloth, trimmed in chenille balls. It's to be worn over your bathing suit as a safeguard perhaps against too much sun or a sudden breeze that blows in from the sea—but also for effect.

It could serve yet another purpose. You might even get wet when you go swimming.

Service Club To Meet

Mrs. Harvey Mayes and her mother, Mrs. Bessie Goss, will be hostesses to the Service Club of Mary E. La Rocca Grove, Supreme Forest Woodmen Circle, Wednesday, at Mrs. Mayes' Summer cottage, Lake Tara, near Jonesboro.

Miss Edna Lyle Jones Wed To Charles Markham Berry

At a brilliant ceremony solemnized at 8:30 o'clock Friday evening at the Glenn Memorial Chapel, Miss Edna Lyle Jones became the bride of Charles Markham Berry, son of Mrs. Maxwell Berry, Sr., of Cleveland, Ohio, and St. Simon Island, and the late Mr. Berry. Dr. William V. Gardner officiated. Charles Thrash, Jr., was organist, and Douglas Moore, soloist.

Robert Berry, of Cleveland, was his brother's best man and the usher-gromsmen were Dr. Maxwell Berry and Gordon J. Berry, of Cleveland, brothers of the groom.

The matrons of honor were the bride's sisters, Mrs. Maxwell Berry, Atlanta, and Mrs. Charles M. Decker, Jr., Summit, N. J. They wore salmon-pink marquisette, matching hats trimmed with small gardenias and carried bouquets of gardenias and swainsona.

Daphne Lyle Berry, niece of the bride, flower girl, wore apple green marquisette and an apple green poke bonnet. She carried a miniature bouquet.

The lovely bride, given in marriage by her father, Prof. Emeritus Horace L. Jones, of Cornell University, wore the wedding gown which belonged to her mother, the late Edna Earle Lyle Jones, of Radford, Va. It was made of ivory duchesse satin trimmed with rosepoint lace. Her tulle veil was bordered with rosepoint lace and she carried white orchids and valley lilies on a white satin prayer book.

A reception followed, given by Dr. and Mrs. Maxwell Berry at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Currie on West Wesley Road. Mr Berry and his bride left on a wedding trip to the mountains, the latter traveling in a pale pink sharkskin suit, white Milan straw hat trimmed with pink Swiss braid and forget-me-nots. Upon their return the couple will reside at 1773 Clairmont Rd., Decatur.

Out-of-town guests included Prof. Horace L. Jones, Ithaca and Interlachen, N. Y.; Mrs. Gordon Johnston, Baltimore; Mrs. Will Eager, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon J. Berry, Evans Johnston, Valdosta; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Berry, Mr. and Mrs. John Reid, all of Cleveland, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt B. Carneal, Mrs. Jonah J. Bowles, Mrs. Robert Johnston and Miss Eloise Smith, all of Richmond, Va.; and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Martin Decker, of Summit, N. J.

Miss Georgia Graham Weds Dr. Richard Thomas James

The marriage of Miss Georgia Cerena Graham and Dr. Richard Thomas James was solemnized Saturday afternoon at the Epiphany Episcopal Church. Rev. Waddell F Robey officiated.

The lovely bride, given in marriage by her father, Carol R. Graham, wore the white satin wedding gown belonging to Mrs. Lucien Sykes, III, the former Miss Billie Bob Howell, of Bainbridge. Her veil was finger-tip length, and she carried white orchids on a prayer book.

Miss Lucy Graham, maid of honor, wore white chiffon and a small white flowered hat and carried roses. Miss Carol Rufty and Miss Dorothy Thurman Graham, junior bridesmaids, wore long white organdy dresses and carried roses. John Thomas Callahan was the ring bearer.

Wesley Callahan and Alfred J. Rufty, Sr., were the ushers. Richard Thomas James, Sr., was his son's best man.

The mother of the groom, Mrs. Richard Thomas James, Sr., wore aqua crepe, and orchids and Mrs. Carol Graham wore eggshell crepe and orchids.

Mrs. James attended the University of Georgia and Emory University and finished as a laboratory technician. She was with the Honolulu Blood Bank during the war. Since returning to the States she has been in the Research Department of Cornell University Medical School. She is the daughter of Carol R. Graham and the former Lillias Fleming, of Bainbridge.

Dr. James graduated from University of Pennsylvania, receiving both his B. S. and M. D. He was a Sigma Nu and Phi Beta Kappa. He served as flight surgeon in the Pacific Theatre during the war. Since his discharge from the service he has done special training with the Post Graduate School of Medicine at Cornell University, and at the Post Graduate School of Medicine at the University of Pennsylvania. Dr. James is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Thomas James, of Philadelphia.

Dr. and Mrs. James left for the Florida Keys and the Bahamas. On their return to Atlanta, Dr. James will be an assistant resident in medicine at Emory University Hospital. After July Dr. and Mrs. James will reside at 3119 Habersham Road.

Miss Viola Howard Weds G. W. Hendrix

Improvement Group Asks Parking Bans

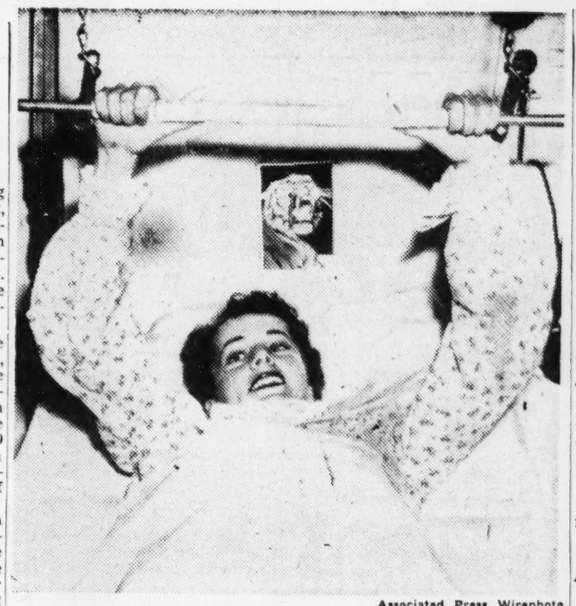

Elimination of all curb parking on both sides of Courtland Street, from Edgewood to Linden Avenues, and on Juniper Street from Linden to Ponce de Leon Avenues between the hours of 4 p. m. and 6 p. m. is advocated by the Central Atlanta Improvement Association.

In a bulletin to members of the Association, Clark E. McDonald, Executive Vice President of the improvement group, said the parking ban during afternoon rush hours is the only way to get the maximum use of the $119,499 Courtland-Juniper cut-off at North Avenue. The Association has requested the Police Committee of City Council to effect the ban.

McDonald said the elimination of parking on the two main traffic arteries would enable the streets to carry an adidtional lane of traffic and widen the other lanes considerably, thus speeding up the flow of traffic from the central city area.

CHANNING COPE'S ALMANAC:

Chancellor Brown And His Story---

MONDAY, JUNE 7, 1948

Suggestion of the day: Some Georgia soil is so anemic that the stuff grown on it will hardly sustain life. And yet, the strange truth is that the same soil can be made to live and to provide life. To engage in such a transmutation is to work hand in hand with the Almighty.

SHOULD I TELL IT?

Vice Chancellor Harry Brown didn't say that I could use the following story which he told to the Land-Light-Life conference at the Rabun Gap-Nacoochee School last week, but, on the other hand, he didn't tell me not to use it, and furthermore, he is a truthful man and if he told the story in one place, he would tell it in another, and in as much as the story is authentic and will do good if repeated, I hold by some process of logic all my own that he would want the story repeated. So here goes:

He said that before the Government took over part of Rabun County and made it into a national forest there were regular inundations of a certain piece of bottom land on Black Creek where he and a friend were in the habit of making a corn crop each year. The water and the sand covered the bottom land and did much damage. But ever since the land above the corn bottom had been a part of the national forest and was covered up in trees, THERE HAD BEEN NO FLOODING OF THE CORN BOTTOM. And this had been going on for 23 years.

Vice Chancellor Brown didn't know it but this is the story many of us have been looking for. We have had personal experience with holding down farmsteads through close-growing crops with the result that there is no soil loss and very little moisture loss, but most of us have not had the experience of erosion control on a WATERSHED basis. We have BELIEVED and have had many reasons to declare that the way to keep the water from flooding the area below the headwaters is to hold the water on the watershed by close-growing crops. Now we have a concrete illustration. No one will doubt the account as given by Harry Brown.

Now, why won't this method work on the Chattahoochee? And on the Yellow River? And the other rivers?

What's wrong with covering up these watersheds first, and THEN building dams if they are needed. (More tomorrow.)

Summer is just about here and we will be broadcasting from beneath the mighty oaks that shelter our farm house. Maybe a careless bumble bee will add his music to the chorus of birds and insects and farm talk that goes on at 6 a. m. and 12:45 p. m. over WCON. You should join us. As ever

License Tags For Scooters

Motor scooter drivers are creating headaches for Fulton County police.

Chief G. Neal Ellis reminded Fulton officers in a memorandum that an operator of a motor scooter, or any motor-propelled vehicle must have a driver's license and license tag.

"We are having a good bit of trouble from these motor scotters being driven by persons who cannot comply with the law," the Chief said.

If a driver under 16 is caught, officers have orders to escort him, along with the scooter, to his parents, informing them that since a minor can't get a driver's license he can't operate the vehicle. If he's nabbed again he goes to juvenile authorities, but not to Criminal Court. And an operator 16 or over without his driving credentials gets the usual ticket, Chief Ellis warned.

Doug Wycoff Will Make Many 'Touchdowns' in His New Business Here

Famous Football Star Is Selling Air Conditioners

By PRESS HUDDLESTON

"Ten years ahead of the best." That's what Doug Wycoff says about the Ajax International Air Conditioners, the distribution of which he has just taken over for this city and area, opening his place of business at 36 Fifth Street, at Spring.

Of course, Doug wanted to handle something far in the lead—"ten years ahead of the best" is a strong statement, and is just about what football fans used to say about Doug some 25 years ago, when he was acclaimed the finest and most powerful fullback in the country, then playing on the Georgia Tech football team.

But now, engaged in a business that promises much in the future for him, Wycoff expects to find no trouble in making "touchdowns" that will bring success to him and his company. If he strives for this success like he used to strive for victory on his football and baseball teams of Tech, no one doubts his splendid success in business. Doug's athletic fame was known 25 years ago all over the South, in fact, over the entire country, as a fullback the equal, or a little better, than any other player. While football was the game in which he shone most brightly, he was a top-notcher in baseball. His mighty slugging was feared by pitchers in all college games. His last achievement at Georgia Tech will always be remembered. He hit a home run at Ponce de Leon in 1926, before 10,000 people, against University of Georgia in the 10th inning of a tied game to win the Southern Championship for Tech.

Coach Alexander has been quoted as saying Doug was "the greatest player ever to wear a cleated shoe for Georgia Tech." He was named All-Southern, All-American, and All-American Pro. He is the only man ever to make four letters at Georgia Tech in major sports. The Four Horsemen of Notre Dame declared him as the most worthy opponent during their career. Doug played eleven years' pro. football with Giants, Redskins and Staten Island while they were in the National League, and also served as player coach for five of the teams during the eleven years.

However, Doug Wycoff is now wrapped up in the wonders of the Ajax International Air Conditioner. This is one of the most modern machines of the times. It uses no water, no plumbing. It is a perfect air conditioning unit for clubs, restaurants, hotels, stores, banks, industry, homes, offices, and is most efficient in low cost operation.

This Ajax Conditioner is a revolutionary new development in the science of healthful, comfortable, economical air conditioning that will pay you handsome dividends in ANY type of institution, office, store, shop or building where people live, work, buy or congregate. People just naturally gravitate to air-conditioned places of business. They stay longer, buy more . . . and they return more often. Employees feel better, work more efficiently, maintain better attendance records. Cleaning and maintenance costs are lower . . . so are soilage and spoilage losses. AJAX is air conditioning at its best.

Here are the features that make the Ajax Air Conditioner "10 years ahead":

Lower Purchase Cost, in relation to capacity, because it will provide perfectly cool, low humidity air conditioning to any enclosed area up to 1,500 square feet in size.

Lower Installation Cost because no plumbing is required (AJAX uses no water for cooling).

Lower Operating Cost because there are no costly water bills to pay.

No Waste of Cooling Capacity because AJAX cools the living level only—does not cool the upper room area, where air conditioning is wasteful, inefficient and costly.

Large Capacity. A single AJAX 3-h.p. unit cools and conditions 1,500 square feet of floor space, regardless of ceiling height.

AJAX requires a floor space of only 28"x50" Height 6 feet.

As Simple and Easy to operate and maintain as your household refrigerator.

DOUG IS AT IT AGAIN—But it's in a different line — he's in business—not football this time. Doug Wycoff is selling and installing Ajax International Air Conditioners, with his place of business at 36 Fifth St. at Spring. He has just installed the machine shown above at the Atlanta Beverage Company. Standing, left to right, are Stuart Murray, President of Beverage Company; Doug Wycoff, President of Wycoff Company, and Winton Smith, Assistant Stales Mgr. U. S. Agency.

THIS IS DOUG WYCOFF, the famous fullback of 25 years ago, now in business here for himself.

Extra Sizes in Pants, Underwear and Shirts Featured at Pierce's

The George Pierce Men's Store, corner Pryor and Decatur Streets, wishes to call special attention to its large stock of men's odd pants, polo "T" shirts and sport shirts.

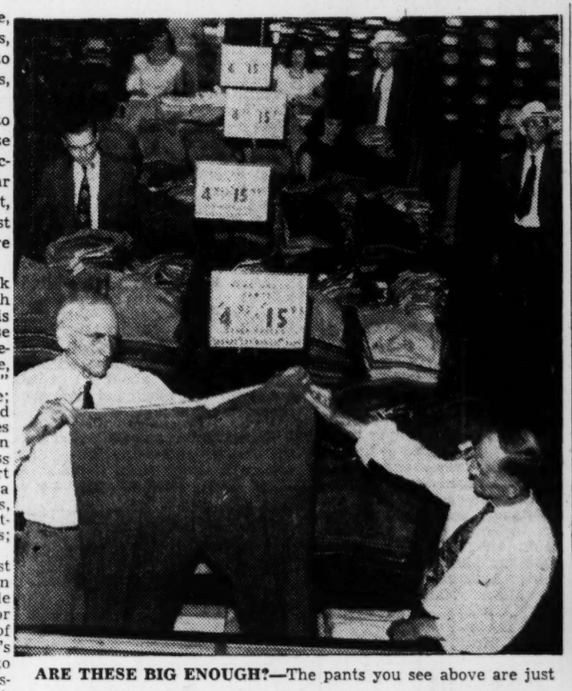

Men of all types find it easy to shop at this popular store because the firm carries a complete selection of everything in men's wear except suits and overcoats. In fact, it is said to be one of the largest men's cash stores in the entire Southeast.

But a large and complete stock is not the only thing for which the George Pierce Men's Store is noted. The concern likes to please all men and so it makes a specialty of extra sizes. For instance, all sizes Hanes suede knit "T" shirts in tans, blue and white; athletic style knit undershirts and knit Hanes' briefs, through sizes up to 54; Summer style union suits, up to size 58; work and dress pants, through sizes up to 60; sport shirts, extra large, double extra and triple extra sizes; staple belts, through sizes up to 60; fancy pattern shirts, up through 19½ sizes; white shirts, up to size 20.

Considered one of the largest retailers of Hanes' underwear in this section the firm carries a wide variety that makes it possible for every man to choose the style of underwear he prefers. The store's entire main floor is devoted to well-arranged displays of dress-wear, including many of the better-known brands.

In the George Pierce Store's modern and well-lighted basement are over 3,000 pieces of union-made work clothing including Lee garments and several other famous makes popular for their durability and perfect fit. Among the wide assortment of work clothing are industrial uniforms in matching colors, jackets, jumpers, cap tops and frames, unionalls, overalls, pants, shirts, gloves, and the popular baseball caps.

George Pierce invites you to stop by his store when you're in need of anything in his line. You're sure to find what you want at the price you want to pay.

ARE THESE BIG ENOUGH?—The pants you see above are just a sample of the large stock of extra size work and dress pants now being featured at the George Pierce's Men's Store, corner Pryor and Decatur Streets. The store also has a large stock of extra size shirts and union suits, overalls and other men's wear and is especially anxious to show you its large stock of Hanes' shirts and underwear.

Now in Marines

Two Georgians who are members of this year's graduating class at the United States Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md., have been selected for appointment as second lieutenants in the U. S. Marine Corps, the Navy announced Sunday. They are Hugh Donald Adair, Jr., 423 East Main St., College Park, and Henry Clay Hamilton, Jr., 618 South Thornton Ave., Dalton.

Heads Lions' Club

WAYCROSS, June 6—Jack Pittman, Waycross businessman who has been agent for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company here for the past 13 years, was elected president of the Lions Club at the organization's annual election held at Ware Hotel. He will succeed James Gornto.

Enlarged Steak House, More Pretty Booths, Finest Foods at Jennings

Wonderful Steaks, Fried Chicken, Eats and Dancing

By PRESS HUDDLESTON

It's back again—that accommodating curb service at Jennings' Place at 931 Boulevard, N. E. It was missed by hundreds of patrons of this popular night spot when Roger Jennings had to discontinue it some two or three years ago.

Not only curb service now if you desire it, but you will find there is a remarkable steak house, newly remodeled and enlarged, with scores of new and inviting booths, and with plenty of tables to take care of the constantly increasing crowds who can be seen at Jennings' every evening. The place opens daily 11 a. m. to 1 a. m., but is closed on Sunday.

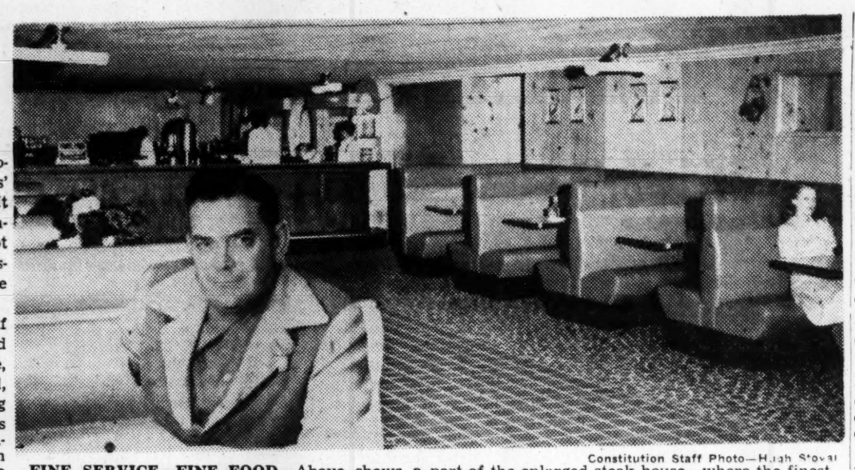

The improvements and enlargements and service are only a part of the pleasing things now offered at Jennings.' There is a big parking lot free to patrons, and there are private dining rooms for private parties, wedding parties, banquets, etc. Call Vernon 9249 if you want a reservation and it will be arranged for you.

But let's talk a little about the delicious, wholesome food you are served at Jennings' Night Spot. Well, for instance there is chicken cooked in the frying pan, like Mother used to cook—and an order of tender fine chicken for $1.25. Patrons are calling for the fine steaks served, saying "They are out of this world," and you only pay $1.25.

In addition, at Jennings' Place is served excellent and tasty sandwiches, barbecue and hamburgers—the finest you ever tasted, also with soft drinks if you want 'em.

Call and place your order for chicken or steaks and have them hot and waiting for you.

Don't forget that Jennings' is a most desirabl. place for dancing. Large groups of young folks—and old folks, too—gather there nightly to dance on one of the largest and finest dance floors in the Southeast—dancing with or listening to the soft, sweet music of a seven-piece orchestra of outstanding musicians led by Lee Forbes in the attractive Rose Room.

FINE SERVICE—FINE FOOD—Above shows a part of the enlarged steak house—where the finest of steaks are served for $1.25—at Jennings' Night Spot, 931 Boulevard, N. E. Prompt curb service has been restored by Jennings, with lots of parking room. Delicious fried chicken is one of Jennings' hobbies, so get a dish and join a happy crowd each evening in dancing on the largest and finest dance floor in the Southeast. Inset left corner is Roger Jennings.

Harvesting All Threshable Crops Made Easy, Fast and Low in Cost

Now that we are entering fast in the grain and hay season, the Farm Equipment Exchange, 10 Brady Ave., N. W., is centering much of its work and attention on the type of equipment that will be of greatest service to the farmers of North Georgia.

Just now the Exchange is calling attention to Oliver's new Model 15 Grain Master. This newly designed modern machine makes harvesting all threshable crops easy, fast, and low in cost. The Model 15 is the latest in a long line of renowned harvesting machines . . . the result of 99 years of experience in building threshing equipment.

All the grain-saving features of the larger Oliver Grain Masters and their famous forerunners are incorporated in this new Model 15—plus several new improvements in design and construction. Its flexibility in handling all small grains, as well as all succeeding legume, bean, sorghum and grass crops as the seasons roll around, will make it a favorite with all the members of your family who help with the harvest.

Oliver Combine controls the crop . . . and feeds the cylinder evenly. Proper feeding to the threshing mechanism is important and has always gone hand in hand with high performance. Oliver engineers recognize this fundamental. They haven't left the feeding of the crop to the cylinder to chance. Basic feeding principles have been built into the Model 15 to control the crop.

Here's how the Oliver Grain Master takes the crop to the cylinder: Thoroughly field-tested grain dividers guide the straw to the sickle bar, where a large diameter reel gathers and gently places them on a weather-proofed draper. Above the main draper is an upper, or feeding, weather-proofed draper, which floats on the straw stream to provide smoothness in delivery to the feeding beater.

Before you buy any combine, consider the many superior advantages of the new Oliver Model 15. This combine is an all-purpose machine, one that will harvest all your seed crops, such as wheat, oats, barley, rye, lesperdesia, all clovers, peas, lupine, etc.

The Exchange is also featuring the new Oliver-Ann Arbor pick up baler, which, it is claimed, harvests hay better at less cost. These days, hay is more important than ever in the crop rotation scheme. It provides a roughage rich in protein . . . it's a great soil builder . . . necessary in the control of erosion.

By harvesting hay with an Oliver-Ann Arbor baler, you can grow more acres of valuable legumes and still have plenty of time to devote to corn cultivation and the grain harvest during the rush season.

Labor costs are low. Only one man is required to operate the sensational new Oliver-Ann Arbor Automatic Hydraulic Threader pick-up baler . . . and a man and a boy can operate the speedy, light-weight Junior 18 Pick-up.

Terms can be arranged on the purchase of any of the above machinery if desired — one-third down, two years to pay.

OLIVER MODEL 15 GRAIN MASTER COMBINE—A newly designed modern machine that makes harvesting all threshable crops easy, fast and low in cost. It is sold and distributed through this area by the Farm Equipment Exchange, 10 Brady Ave., N. W. (National Stock Yards.) AT. 5716.

GIVES UP AT 88

Pension Seen For Deserter

LONDON, June 7—(UP)—Walter Campbell, 88, walked into the Victoria barracks Sunday and asked to be put in the guardhouse. He said he went AWOL from the Army in 1888.

Campbell told Maj. H. A. K. McGonigal he got tired of Army life after five years' service and deserted in time to miss the Boer War.

"I want to give myself up," he said. "Knock me in the head and shove me into the guardroom."

McGonigal said Britain probably will grant Campbell amnesty and provide him with a pension.

OES Aid Restored Atlantan's Face

Funds from the Order of the Eastern Star Benevolence Committee and efforts of Mrs. Pauline Dillon and J. R. Bachman, retired President of Atlanta Milling Company, were responsible for miraculous plastic surgery treatments received by Miss Doris Williams, of 935 Hall Pl., N. W., her mother, Mrs. J. H. Williams, said Sunday.

Miss Williams was accidently struck by a shotgun blast at her home the morning of July 15, 1944, which tore away the greater portion of her face.

After spending many months at Grady Hospital the Order of the Eastern Star and Bachman arranged for Miss Williams to be sent to Vanderbilt University Hospital. There, through skillful operations by Dr. Beverly Douglas, who was the closest plastic surgeon available, she had her face restored after 18 months' treatment.

W. S. Creighton Dies

CHARLOTTE, N. C., June 6—(AP)—William Samuel Creighton, 72, died at a hospital here early Sunday after an extended illness.

The Police Blotter

By ROLFE EDMONDSON

COMPROMISE — The burglar who climbed from a box beneath a window into the home of W. O. Schroeder, 597 Formwalt St., S. W., early Sunday apparently decided to leave his victim a little spending money. He took $50 from purses of Mr. and Mrs. Schroeder but left $1 in Schroeder's wallet, found in the back yard.

TEMPTATION—A. S. Lipsins, a delivery boy living at 447 Marietta St., N. W., told police he noticed a little Negro boy eyeing his red bicycle and following him. Later Lipsins reported the shiny vehicle missing. Patrolmen A. L. Posey and G. S. Robertson said they found the 9-year-old Negro pedaling merrily on the bicycle. He was turned over to juvenile authorities.

STICK-UP—A pistol-flourishing bandit early Sunday forced a filling station manager to lay face downward while being robbed of $40, Patrolmen T. C. Kennon and S. S. Howle reported. The victim was C. E. Chatman, manager of the Spur Distributing Company, 791 Forrest Rd., N. E. The thief escaped in a black car. He was described as approximately 30 years old, five feet, eight inches tall, and weighing 165 pounds.

CLOSET INMATE — Police investigating a mattress fire in Room 204 at the Tallulah Hotel said a preliminary search of the room disclosed no occupant. A short time later they reported finding Vincent Warren, 25, of Conley, unclad in the closet. He was charged with drunk and disorderly conduct-malicious mischief.

STREET KNIFING — H. D. Popham, 31, of 980 Langley Ave., N. W., told police he was walking with a companion on Bryan Street near Edgewood Avenue when he and two Negroes bumped together. He said one of the Negroes knifed him in the left shoulder and side.

SWIMMER HURT — Atlanta had its first casualty of the city swimming season Sunday. Charles Brown, 15, of 855 Peachtree St., N. E., cut his right foot on a piece of glass at Piedmont Park, police said. He was treated at Grady Hospital.

FIRE ESCAPE—Five fire-fighting companies early Sunday afternoon rushed to a call in the Rich's Annex block. The "fire scare" turned out to be a smouldering electric motor in the basement of Leo's Buffet, 25 Forsyth St., N. W., firemen said. No damage to the building was reported.

WHISKEY SEIZED—Seizure of 80 gallons of corn whiskey Sunday with detention of two Negroes accused of doing a wholesale business in illegal intoxicants, was disclosed by Dets. R A. Boone and B. G. Holland. They said 500 Maughron St., S. E., housed the basement they raided. Herbert Ford and A. E. O'Neal were charged with disorderly conduct-whiskey. A third Negro fled, detectives added.

Cadillac

APPROVAL

Since word of the new Cadillacs was first heard by the public, tens of thousands of people have placed their orders for these magnificent cars.

It is the greatest upsurge in popularity in Cadillac's eventful history—and is due, in great measure, to the striking beauty and individuality of the new Cadillac models. More than ever before, Cadillac leadership can now be seen—and thousands who have never before aspired to Cadillac ownership are deciding to be done with compromise and own the "Standard of the World."

We think you would find it enlightening to inspect the new Cadillacs at close range, and would be happy to have you visit our showrooms at your convenience.

HOSPITAL FIRST STRUCTURE

Rebuilding Program Launched at Saint Lo

SAINT LO, France, June 6—(UP)—This "Capital of Ruins" dedicated itself to the job of reconstruction Sunday on the fourth anniversary of D-Day.

St. Lo's 8,000 surviving citizens—4,000 died in the war—gathered in the shadow of shattered Notre Dame Cathedral to watch President Vincent Auriol lay the first cornerstone for their projected new city.

The first building will be a French-American memorial hospital. It will be constructed with U. S. financial aid.

"Our American friends remember St. Lo as the gateway to victory and as a symbol of France's suffering," Mayor Georges Lavallet told the townsfolk. "It is to them we owe our liberation and now the start of our reconstruction."

This was the main stop on Auriol's four-day tour of the Normandy battlefields in observance of D-Day.

From St. Lo, Auriol went to Carentan, Ste. Mere Eglise, Monteburg, Valognes and Cherbourg.

Auriol and U. S. Ambassador Jefferson Caffery visited Utah Beach, where they decorated monuments built by the First Engineers Special Brigade "in proud memory of our dead."

At Portsmouth, England, Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery unveiled a memorial which faces the sea at a spot from which many units of the armada sailed with troops and equipment for the Normandy beaches. The memorial is a simple stone.

Ike Takes Columbia Post Today

NEW YORK, June 6—(AP)—Gen. Eisenhower will become President of Columbia University today, four years and a day after the Allied forces under his command stormed the Normandy beaches.

Eisenhower assumes the presidency without ceremony but his inaugural next October will be the occasion for a colorful academic show.

The former Chief of Staff, who is 57 years old, will be the thirteenth president of the University, founded 194 years ago.

The General and his wife moved into the 21-room President's home on the campus May 2. He has occupied his official office in Low Memorial Library for several weeks while learning his new duties.

A Job with "Orchids"
for ALERT, ATTRACTIVE GIRLS
LETTERS from telephone users complimenting and commending our operators are frequent. That's not only because of the importance and value placed on the service received, but also because of the high type of young lady placed in this important position. It's a tribute, too, to the voice and personality development that makes the VOICE With a Smile a tradition.
IF YOU would like meeting people at this "crossroad of the community," if you like working with many other girls of your age and interests, maybe this is the job for you.
GOOD PAY—$29 a week—beginning the day you join a class of newcomers to learn this interesting work from friendly instructors—three raises the first year! Opportunities for advancement. Sickness Benefits and Vacations with pay.

TO ALL
MY FRIENDS
AND CUSTOMERS
I WILL be in Atlanta at my place of business, 617 West Peachtree St., all this week. I have a good stock of nearly new cars, lots with very low mileage, various makes and models. Will give good trades as we need some lower price cars and finance balance up to 24 months. See me this week.

Harvest Time Calls Combine Caravans

By BILL BORING
Constitution Roving Reporter.

SNELLVILLE—The gently rolling hills of North Georgia are turning gold again, beckoning to the road the behemoth combines which in one operation harvest and thresh the ripened oats and wheat.

The advent of grain as a major money crop with the combines following in its wake constitutes what Farmer M. L. Still describes as the biggest single change in Georgia agriculture seen in his 65 years on a farm.

The combines take to the road in this section around June 1 and stay on the move until all the grain has ripened and has been harvested, which usually is toward the end of July.

A dozen or so combines work out of Snellville. Their owners operate them on a contract basis, cutting, threshing and sacking a farmer's grain for so much per acre, depending upon the yield.

The machines sometimes travel in caravans, harvesting the grain in a single area farm by farm until the job is done. When the grain ripens in a certain locality, it is essential that it be harvested immediately. Delay might mean destruction by storm.

The combine, manned by three workers—one on the tongue operating the blade, another in the driver's seat and the third tying the sacks of grain—replaces both the binding and threshing machines, which, in turn, were substituted for the strength of the farmer. In the old days when the farmer had to cut and shock his grain by hand he planted no more than he could handle himself—usually, just enough for his table and feed for stock.

Today, the farmer sells grain to farm agents or in markets in Atlanta and other cities. The crop is stored in huge elevators and marketed whenever the owner feels he is getting a fair price or when he wishes to sell. Grain is a cash crop in Georgia today and the farmers say the only thing keeping them from planting more of it is the shortage of machinery to harvest it.

The combine caravans operate night and day when grain is ripening. The crews change shifts just as in a factory. Equipped with headlights, the combines are kept in the fields around the clock.

Farmer Still says hilly land such as is this section doesn't deter the harvesting by machinery. If the ground is cleared of rock and stump, he says, it doesn't matter that it has a roll. In fact, he points out, the terrain in this section is much like that of the great grain-producing country of the Middle West.

While much of Georgia's grain appears anemic and thin this year, as a result of unfavorable weather, the farmers of this section say they are harvesting a good crop. Grain is sown in the Fall and it thrives on cold weather which kills the insects. They had cold weather in this section last Winter.

I reckon we didn't invent sin. I read where Paul Revere attended parties where the girls got so drunk they rolled on the floor.
